THE CULLOM BILL.

VOL. XVIII.

PASSAGE OF THE MEASURE BY THE SENATE.

Congress Trying to Regulate the Railroads—The Pas-sage of the Bill by the House Fredigted—What Senator Brown Says of the Bill—Ocesip From the Nathional Capital, Etc.

WASHINGTON, May 12 .- The interstate commerce fraud got another boom, but a very weak one, in the senate today. There were only five votes against this Utopian scheme. These were cast by Senators Brown and Colquitt of Georgia, Ransom and Vance of North Carolina, and Morgan of Alabama. The bill passed by the senate is the old Cullom bill, rehashed and redressed to suit a certain plan which is said to be maturing in the house. Mr. Reagan has his heart set in the passing of some sort of bill regulating in-terstate commerce. His pet bill, which of course is his own, passed the last house. The senate passed the Cullom bill. Reagan would not yield and Cullom would not yield, and so there, was a dead lock and both bills fell into the waste basket. Now it is said Senator Cullom and Mr. Reagan have an agreement that some shall pass both houses and as distasteful as the bill passed today by the senate is to the extreme regulators in the senate, it will be taken up and adopted because they can do no better. Senator Brown helped to amend a bad bill by his vigilance. Yesterday on his motion there were adopted two amendments which bring it much nearer the range of practical statesmanship. One of these was to allow railroad officials to exchange passes. The other was to give reduced rates to all ministers of religion.

Senator Brown said tonight: "It seems to me that this is in the line of very dangerous legislation. The bill, as it has passed the sen-ate, will either force railroads to reduce local rates to a point which will bankrupt them, or it will compel them to abandon their through business. In either event, I think the result will be bad. The bill as it passed the senate, will amount to a blockade of our both so far as they are valuable to us to receive commerce and to discharge it. The bill is in violation of all the philosophy of successful railroad manage-ment in this or any other country. It not only threatens the paralysis of one of our greatest business interests, but it imperils the entire commerce of the country."

The bill will be the source of lively discussion in the house, but if the Reagan men back it, there is no question of its passing that body, and launching the government on a dangerou sea of adventure.

T. A. Bush, of Miller county, and E. G. Johnson, of Rome, delegates to the general conference of the Methodist church, south, now in session at Richmond, spent today in Washington. They think the general conference will compare favorably with congress in appearance, dignity and intellect, and perhaps they are right.

THE SENATE'S SESSION. An Anti-Chinese Besolution-Interstate Com-

WASHINGTON, May 12.-In the senate today, Mr. Mitchell submitted a concurrent resclution expressing the sense of congress that negotiations should be entered into between the United States and Chinese governments with a view to securing such modification of the present treaty with China as may result in stopping the coming of Chinese to this country except in case of diplomats and their servants and except also in case of persons at sea driven to seek a place of shelter. The concurrent resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Stanford gave notice that on the 27th instant he would submit resolutions in regard to the death of his late colleague, Mr. Miller The consideration of the interstate commerce bill was then resumed.

The bill having been completed, as in committee of the whole, the question was on agreeing, in the senate, to the amendments agreed to in committee.

agreed to in committee.

A protracted debate arose on various amendments, especially the amendments to the long and short haul clause.

Mr. Riddleberger moved to lay the bill on the table. This motion was defeated—yeas 1,

Mr. Riddleberger then stated that this vote settled all constitutional questions and resolved all that are attributed to the democratic states rights party into one general proposition, that the federal government had the right to control railroads, which carried with it a proposition to control the telegraphs. The sole object of his motion had been to develop that fact. He wanted to hear no more talk of "unconstitutionality" on these points.

velop that fact. He wanted to hear no more talk of "unconstitutionality" on these points.

Mr. Edmunds moved to restore to the long and short haul clause the words struck out by the Camden amendment, namely: "from the same original point of departure," and to add to these further, words "or the same point of arrival." Mr. Edmunds believed this would be better than the Camden amendment, because the latter amendment created he said. cause the latter amendment created. he said, a destinction and an injustice between local traffic that was entirely within the state, and local traffic that happened to be a little out of

was passed—yeas 47, nays 4. The negative votes were Brown, Colquitt, Morgan and Ransom. A number of pairs were announced.

The Cullom bill, as amended and passed by the senate, provides for a commission of five persons to be appointed by the president, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to carry out the purpose of the bill, Each commissioner is to have a salary of $7,500 a year; a secretary appointed by the commission $3,500 a year. The primary offices of the commission are at Washington, where the general sessions are to be held, but special sessions may be held elsewhere to suit public convenience, in which case the necessary expenses incurred is to be paid from the treasury. The first commissioners appointed shall held effect for the terms of $2,34,55 and 6 convenience, in which case the necessary expenses incurred is to be paid from the treasury. The first commissioners appointed shall hold office for the term of 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years, respectively—the term of each to be designated by the president—the successors, however, to hold for six years each. Not more than three of the five shall be appointed from the same political party. All persons holding stock or bonds of any common carrier, or holding official relations to such corporations are declared ineligible for appointment. The commissioners must not engage in any other business. The commission is given authority to inquire into the business and management of all common carriers, subject to the provisions of the bill and be able to obtain full and complete information as to such business; may require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of all books, papers, agreements, tariffs and documents relating to any matter under investigation, and may to that end invoke the aid of the United States courts. Persons having complaints to make against any common carrier, shall make the complaint in writing to the commission. The commission shall send the cemplaint to the common carrier, and require either the satisfaction of the complaint, or an answer in writing within a reasonable time specified. If reparation be not made within the time selected the commission shall investigate the complaint. The commission shall also investigate all complaints forwarded to it by the state commissions, and may institute inquiries on its own motion. Complaints shall not be dismissed because of the absence of direct damage to complainant. Reports of the commission shall be in writing, and shall include the findings of fact on which based, and recommendation as to what reparation if any should be made by the common carrier to the injured party, and such findings shall be deemed prima facie evidence in all judicial proceedings.

Whenever any common carrier shall refuse to obey any lawful order of the commission it

Whenever any common carrier shall refuse to obey any lawful order of the commission it is made the duty of the commission to apply to the United States circuit court, sitting in equity, alleging the violation, and the court shall hear and determine the matter on short notice and without the formal proceedings of ordinary suits but so as to do justice, and the court may, in proper cases, issue writs of injunction or other process, mandatory or otherwise, to restrain further violation of the order of the commission on the part of the common carrier offending. For such purposes the circuit courts shall be deemed always in session.

The bill requires that all charges for any service in transporting passengers or freights service in transporting passengers or freights or storing goods by common carriers shall be reasonable. It prohibits all rebates and draw-back and all unjust discrimination, requiring that all persons shall be charged and treated alike for services rendered, under substantially similar circumstances and conditions.

Every common carrier subject to the bill shall within sixty days after it becomes law, file with the commission copies of all its tariffs of fares and freights, including its classifications and terminal charges and shall classifications and terminal charges and shall make them public, so far as the commission may deem practicable. No advance on such published rates shall be made without ten days

The long and short hauld clause, being section four of the bill, reads as follows:
That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers, or of a like class and quantity of property subject to the provisions of this Act for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction, and from the same oliginal point of departure or to same point of arrival, but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this act to charge or receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance; provided, however, that upon application to the commission appointed under the provisions of this act, such common carrier may, in special cases, be authorized to charge less for a longer than a shorter distance for the transportation of passengers or property, and the commission may from time to time make general rules exempting such designated common carrier in such special cases from the operation of this section of this act, and when such exceptions shall have been made and published they shall, until changed by the commission or by-laws, have a like force and effect as though the same had been specified in this section. Any common carrier who shall violate the provisions of this section of this act shall be deemed guilty of extortion, and shall be liable to the person or persons against whom any such excessive charge was made, for all damages occasioned by such violation.

The bill now goes to the house of representatives for concurrence.

SWEPT BY A STORM.

TERRIFIC CYCLONE VISITS CIN-CINNATI AND OTHER POINTS.

Daylight Turned Into Darkness by the Black Clouds

-Heavy Down-Pour of Rain, Accompanied by High Winds, Doing Great Damage to Property-Several People Killed.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Passengers on the Chiago and Alton train which arrived tonight, had a remarkable experience with the cyclone At Pontiac, Ill., a storm cloud was seen gathering in the west, and moving in a northeast direction. As the train sped on, the storm kept coming nearer every minute, and the passengers began to realize that they were being chased by the cyclone. Just as the train pulled into Odell, Ill., the storm struck the town and the air was full of debris. In a moment seven stores and the hotel were unroofed; and one large brick building was nearly destroyed.

large brick building was nearly destroyed. Under the wreck of the structure two children were buried. The telegraph wires in that vicipity are reported down.

Specials from Streator and Rockford, Ill., and Peru, Ind., tell of a terrible wind and hail storm at those points. About 5:30 p. m. heavy, roaring clouds from the south and east met just over the city of Rockford, and daylight was suddenly converted into darkness. A downpour of immense hailstones followed, exestly demoging trees and brocking window. was suddenly converted into darkness. A downpour of immense hailstones followed, greatly damaging trees and breaking windows. In the country surrounding Streator rain and hailraged for an hour and a half, and the destruction visited upon grain, fruits and all vegetables is very great. From Peru, Ind., telegrams are received to the effect that houses were unroofed, trees uprooted and wheat fields blown down. A large amount of stock is reported killed by the lightning.

CHICAGO, May 12.—All the wires leading east from Chicago have been badly demoralized tonight by the storms at Lafayette, Indianapolis, Winamac and Logansport, and at Cincinnatia cyclone is reported, which has cut that city off from telegraphic communication on all sides.

JOLIET, Ills., May 12.—A most destructive cyclone is reported from Odell, a village forty miles south of Joliet, on the Chicago and Alton. This afternoon about four o'clock the storm burst. The delegates to the State Sabbath-school convention returning on the train arriving here at six p. m. state that as the First they saw the root of an elevator raise and sail off in the air, and the building collapse. Then a hotel and houses raised up, tumbled over like feathers and were shattered to pieces. Both brick and frame, and all sizes, from shauties to two - story buildings, went. The train was stopped but as the wind was blowing parallel with the track it was not upset, though bricks and sticks broke the windows. Considerable time was required to move the debris from the track before the train could proceed after the cyclone. People busied themselves looking under ruined houses for those missing. The train resumed its journey without giving the delegates a chance to learn the casualties, but they report that several men, women and children are killed and injured. Local telegraph agents have been trying to raise Odell all the evening but cannot succeed and the real extent of the less of life and damage cannot be assertained.

storm struck the tent and turned the whole show upside down. A general stampede ensued, amid sheets of lightning, drenching rains and resistless gales of wind. Three persons were seriously injured by falling poles. A number were hurt slightly.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 12.—The Pantagraph's special from Odell is as follows:

At 3:45 p. m. today a terrible cyclone struck this village, which demolished one brick block, wrecked three warehouses, unroofed the hotel, Masonic hall and four store buildings; also the upper story of the Angell block, in which tel, Masonic hall and four store buildings; also the upper story of the Angell block, in which was the Odell bank and Odd Fellows' lodge. Scarcely a store in town escaped injury. The loss will amount to fifty thousand dollars. Houses, barns and sheds were twisted off their foundations and completely destroyed. Trees a foot in diameter were twisted up. The storm did not last over five minutes. Ten minutes before the air seemed to get green. The clouds seemed to advance; one from southeast and one from the southwest and met over the town forming a monstrous and met over the town forming a monstrous whirlwind. story brick hardward store of S. S. Cole are all wrecked. The hotel is injured badly; not a whole window remains in the building. A number of residences were hadly wrecked. The streets are filled with timbers, board fences, tin roofs and prostrated trees. The new school building is partly unroofed. The fatally injured are: Lottie Swiete, a ten-year-old girl, was carried over 200 feet in the air and fell on the railroad track, smashing her skull. George and Charles Hoke, livery men; S. S. Cole, hardware merchaut, and two children of John Miller, are seriously hurt. The telegraph wires were all blown down, and communication with the outside world was completely cut off. The damage in the surrounding country is comparatively slight.

New York, May 12.—Reports from Pittsburg and other points indicate terrible storms in the neighborhood of Cincinnati. All the wires are down in that region and the city at midnight was inaccessible from any point. St. Louis is also cut off from communication by the loss of wires.

St. Louis is also cut off from communication by the loss of wires, 2:30 a.m.—Dispatches just received here from Pittsburg and Cleveland report the storm as having reached those places and that it is raging with awful violence. There are no details yet as to the ravages of the storm about Cincinnati. The wires are down in all directions, and it is difficult to obtain any information whatever.

WINCHESTER, May 12.—Fearful storms passed over this place this evening, lasting fifteen minutes. Two clouds of a greenish cast hanging low, one from the northeast, the other from the southwest met and bursted fifteen minutes. Two clouds of a greenish cast hanging low, one from the northeast, the other from the southwest met and bursted immediate over the cit. The wind attained great velocity and hail stones the size of walnuts fell to the depth of from two inches to three feet. Trees were stripped of, their foliage, and the rain fell in torrents, filling the streets and cellare. Every house with a western exposure had all the window glass destroyed. Carriages were overturned on the roads leading to city, the occupants narrowly escaping with their lives. Fortunately the storm did not extend more than a mile on either side of the place. The people were greatly alarmed during its prevalence.

EVANSULLE, Ind., May 12.—The loss from the tornado last night is about $150,000. One man was killed in the street by a falling tree.

WILLIAMSPORT, Ind., May 12.—A cyclone struck this place this evening, destroying everything in its track. Several houses and barns in the north end of town were carried away. It seemed to have formed about two miles northwest of the town, and took a southwesterly direction, traveling about thirty miles an hour, striking the extreme north end of this place.

DAYTON, O., May 12.—A fearful thunder storm visited this city this evening, commencing at 8:20 and at 10 is still in progress. The electrical display was decidedly brilliant and the rainfall very heavy, flooding many cellars in various parts of the city, particularly among the business houses on Main street, be-tween Third and Fourth streets. The loss will reach many thousand dollars. The storm was accompanied by a heavy fall of hall, which lasted about ten minutes. The hall stones were very large and solid, and did great damage to windows, shrubbery, flowers and fruit,

THE LABOR TROUBLES. Cigar Manufactories Shut Up-The Spinners

READING, Pa., May 12.—The cigar makers resented to their employers a new schedule f wages which would have advanced the cost of wages which would have advanced the cost of cigars $1.50 to $2.50 per thousand. The employers accoringly closed shops indefinitely, throwing out of employment 800 persons. The manufacturers had numerous orders ahead, but at prices which would have resulted in loss if compelled to pay the advance asked for by the employes.

FALL RIVER, Mass., May 12.—The spinners' union, at a meeting last night, voted to join the Knights of Labor on Friday next, retaining intact their present organization as the spinners union. The meeting declared that the corporations were violating the ten-hour law, and adopted a resolution praying the governor for its enforcement.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 12.—The switchmen's strike at this point is enforced.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 12.—The swift-men's strike at this point is a failure, and is so conceded by a number of strikers. The night men have been at work all day trying to get the day hands to join them, but so far only the Wabash men have come out. The men in the other yards remained at their posts. The night men of the "Big Four" express a determination to return to work tanight. Business mination to return to work tonight. Busine has not been perceptibly interfered with, and not much trouble is apprehended in fully ad-justing all difficulties. CLEYELAND, O., May 12.—The proprietors of the Riverside Iron company, at Stubenville, yesterday, refused the request of their furnace employes, for a nine hours day with ten hours pay. They banked the furnaces and announced that work would be indefinitely suspended. The weekly pay roll amounts to $1,500.

FINING A BOYCOTTER. FINING A BOYCOTTER.

New HAVEN, Conn., May 12.—After many days of legal worrying and wrangling, the case of Benjamin F. Glidden, walking delegate of the Knights of Labor, who was arrested recently on the charge of intimidating Mendel & Freedmen from advertising in the Journal and Courier was settled today as far. Journal and Courier, was settled today as far as the city court is concerned Judge Pickett found Glidden guilty and is bosed a fine of $50 and costs. Precautions Taken by the Police of St. Louis to Prevent Violence.

ST. Louis, May 12.—Requisition papers from Lieutenant-Governor Moorenouse, of this state, warranting the removal of the East St. Louis deputy sheriffs who fired upon a crowd of strikers on the Cahokia bridge, April last, from this city to Illinois, were received some day this city to Illinois, were received some days ago by the authorities here, but the fact has been kept a secret until today for the purpose of guarding against any trouble which might attend the transfer of the men to Belleville, Ills, jail. At noon today the deputies were transferred to the union depot in a covered carriage, whence they were placed on a train bound for Belleville. Upon arriving at the latter place they were quietly taken to jail to await their trial. The transfer of the prisoners was made so quickly and quietly that no one became aware of it until it had been completed, and the anticil ated outbreak by sympathizers of the victims of the deputies was averted.

SPECULATIONS AS TO THE IRISH MEASURE

Mr. Gladstone Will Try to Dissolve Parliament, but the Queen will not Give her Assent to It—The Excitement in Ulster—Other News From the Old World—Items of Interest.

Loxpon, May 12.- A political meeting was held at the city residence of Joseph Chamberlain today. Sixty members of the house of commons were present. Mr. Chamberlain ex-plained the renewal of his activity against Gladstone's home rule bill by saying that he had been clearly informed last Saturday that the premier was prepared to expunge from his measure the clause excluding Irish represen-tatives from sitting at Westminster and thus maintain the unity of the empire as desired by the radicals. Mr. Chamberlain declared that now nothing short of a withdrawal of the home rule bill would restore unity among the

The meeting unanimously adopted resolutions declaring that those present would do the utmost in their power to oppose the gov-ernment's Irish bill, as there was no hope that the measures would be amended in a way to make them acceptable to the followers of Chamberlain. Mr. Caine, liberal member for Barrow, in Fumess, stated that 102 liberal members have promised to vote against the home rule bill, and that there are thirty-four other liberal members who are undecided as to what course to pursue towards it. He stated the government's action on Monday, in a note, conceding the intention of such representation caused many liberals who had intended to vote with the government, to change their minds, Mr. Trevelyan maintained that home rule was unfeasible and opposed to the spirit of the age. Mr. Collings and others denounced the pressure imposed upon the opponents of the bill. It was apparent, he said, that the liberal association's support of Mr. Gladslone was to be attributed to a sudden burst of generosity. Calm reflec-tion would compel the liberals to confess that the seceders were acting in the best interests of the liberal party. The meeting lasted two hours. It was unanimously agreed that some sort of autonomy should be granted to Ireland, but on a basis different from that upon which Mr. Gladstone's scheme is founded. lations between Chamberlain and Hartington are very cordial.

The ministerialists say that an important concession will be announced in the house of commons tomorrow. The amendment will, it is said, provide for a full representation of Ireland in the British parliament to vote on foreign questions, the budget and customs and excise measures. The radical seceders will be contented with nothing short of the regular epresentation of Ireland.

certain that the queen would refuse her assent to a dissolution under the present prospect of the defeat of the home rule bill. At a meeting of the London and counties' liberal union, resolutions were adopted favoring the main principles of the home rule bill. Several amendments, which were proposed, were noisily rejected. Michael Davitt, in an interview, declared that he would reduce the members of the national league in Ireland and America in Gladstone yielded to Chamberlain's demands for a modification of the homo-rule bill. In reference to the opposition of the people of reference to the opposition of the people of Ulster to home rule, Davitt said scornfully "Leave them alone to us. We will make short work of those gentry. They are not Irish-men, but only English and Scotchmen, who have settled among us. It would be an ab-surdity to allow them to dictate to Irishmen as to how Ireland should be governed. The nationalists will wage war to the death against any bill which does not subject Ulster to the rule of a statutory parliament at Dublin. A petition 37 yards long, signed by 30,000 women of Ulster, has been handed in at the home effice. It is addressed to the queen and beseeches her to withhold her assent from any bome rule bill which may be passed. The first three signatures to the petition are those of the Duchess of Abercon, the wife of Bishop Knox, and Mrs. Henderson, of Norwood Tow er, Belfast, and they represent respectfully the nobility, church and people of Ireland.

Dr. Edwards, of Virginia, introduced a resolution proposing a change in the order of divine service on the Sabbath day. An animated debate followed. Drs. McFerrin, Kelly, Young and others spoke earnestly against the resolution, which was finally rejected.

The finance committee recommended that the matter in relation to the will of the late Lorenzo D. Bragg, of Massachusetts, be referred to a book agent to be elected by the conference for him to do what he may deem best in the premises. Mr. Bragg died, leaving an estate worth $20,000, to be divided equally between the southern and pathern Methodist churches, in the event of his two children dying before they became of age.

The committee on episcopacy reported in relation to the matter of Episcopal residences, that in their opinion there should be a bishop from each great section of the country.

Dr. Peterson, of Virginia, chairman of the committee on revisal, presented a report in relation to the ratio of representation. The committee deem a change unnecessary. Baltimore—Bishop Becker.

Baltimore, May 12.—The meeting of the board of directors of the Catholic university, held today in this city, was attended by Archbishop Gibbons; Williams, of Boston, Corrigan, of New York; Ryan, of Philadelphia; Bishop Kesng, of Richmond; Spalding, of Peoria; Martin, of Dakota: Monsignor Farley, of New York; Fathers Foley, Baltimore; and Chappelle, of Washington, and Eugene Kelly, Michael Jenkins. B. N. Ferren, and Thos. E. Weggaman. Bishop Ireland, of St. Paul, was called home by the death of his father. The committee of prelates appointed to make collections reported most gratifying results. The selection of a rector was left to the four archbishops, their choice to be amounded at the next meeting. Ten plans for the building were submitted and three were selected from which a final selection is to be made. Hwas determined that the disciplinary regulation of the university should be left to a body of ecclesiastics.

A ROAD TO OUTMAN. The People of Brooks County Anxious for the Extension. QUITMAN, Ga, May 12.-[Special.]-The cople of Quitman and all along the line hail with delight the very thought of an all rail direct con-nection with Macon. This road, when built, will prove to be, for many reasons, one of the very best, if not the very best paying road in the state. For the reasons, it will give the most direct travel and freight communication to the north and north-west to Florida, of any other route now con-structed or can be constructed. That it will pass through from Dooly county, south, the finest tim-bered belt that, perhaps, can be found on the continent. That every mile of it will pass through a first rate country that will assist in sustaining with its timber and agricultural products the road. That, from Quitman, by sending out a branch via Monticello, Ela., to James Island, just a little southwest of Tallahassee, it will strike directly through the very heart and absorb middle Florida. That, from Quitman, the main line can be extended into south Florida, as contemplated. These are only a few of the many advantages over all others that this road will have when completed. Hence, it is not to be wondered at that capitalists are becoming thoroughly in earnest about its early completion. The people all along the line can be induced, if the subject is rightly presented to them, to contribute liberally in donations of lands and subscriptions for stock. with its timber and agricultural products the road

At 3 p. m. the convention reassembled and after devotional exercises, the report of committee on credentials was heard.

Then came the roll of district superintendents, who reported the affairs of the associations under their jurisdiction. There are twenty-nine districts, and these reports took up considerable time.

Three ministers' speeches were then reported by speakers selected by county delegates, and these reports were received with a great deal of interest by the convention.

The night session was opened by a service of song, led by J. W. Wallace, of Augusta. This was one of the most interesting and delightful features of the day, and a large congregation witnessed it.

Judge W. R. Hammond, of Atlanta, then delivered a masterly address on "What are the Conditions of the Highest Success in Sunday School Life?" This question was discussed in a thorough manner by various speakers in five minutes' talks, after which the meeting adjourned.

A Sensational Caning.

A Sensational Caning.

MACON, May 12.—[Special.]—Rather a sensational affair occurred near Gilesville Sunday afternoon. A young man out there has been paying his respects to a young lady, and the mother seriously objected to his advances. Sunday he called at a neighbor's house where the girl was stopping, and took her out for a walk. Very soon the mother got wind of it, and arming herself with a cane, she laid in wait for the happy promenaders. As they neared the starting point, on their return, the mother met them and proceeded to chastise the young man, beating him up terribly, especially about the face. She then feathered in on the girl and thrashed her all the way home. The young man declined to prosecute the case on account of the young lady, and so the case stands. The names of the parties interested cannot be ascertained.

LIFE ON SHIPBOARD.

The Difficulties Borne by the Centennial Visitors.

Darien, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—The river steamboats plying between Savannah and places along the coast have been crowded during centennial week, and doubtless, many who have hitherto found charms innumerable in the mode of traveling, now feel differently about it. In the day, time life on able in the mode of traveling, now feel differently about it. In the day time, life on board a crowded river steamer is bearable, but as night approaches the average passenger begins to feel as if he would like to be somewhere else. This certainly has been the case with many of the centennial visitors. One complains of having had his corns trampled on by a big Cincinnati drummer, another caught cold on account of the draught, a third looks worn out because an irrepressible nigger baby was determined he should not sleep, and a fourth had his best black coat torn by running up against a nail that had no business to be where it was.

In Milton county one of Judge Nesbit's bee hives produced six pounds of honey in a single day last week. He weighed the hive in the morning before the bees had gone out and again at night after they were all in, and found the increased weight of the hive to be eight pounds. He weighed it again next morning found the weight only six pounds greater than the morning before. He says the two pounds lost in the night was due to evaporation, the honey when first made being quite watery.

It is roughly estimated that Savannah consumed last week 2,000 gallons of liquors of different kinds. Champagne and artillery punch flowed by the barrel. The Chathams had of one brand of champagne alone (Perrier, Jouet & Co.'s extra dry) some 1,500 quarts. Jouet & Co.'s extra dry) some 1,500 quarts. Other champagnes, clarets, sherries, etc., swelled the total number of quarts of wine to 4,000. In private entertainments barrels of wine were consumed. At the bars beer held its own pretty well, although a larger trade was done in fine liquors than perhaps was ever done here before.

As he was passing Mr. George Koran's place, he heard a noise behind him, and as he turned to learn what it was, a large and savage looking dog sprang at his throat and felled him to the ground by the sudden attack. The dog was frothing at the mouth and showed well marked symptoms of hydrophobia. George had on two shirts and a coat, and these protected him against the repeated and determined efforts of the dog to bite him. Dan boarded the train at a close of some day night, the second instant; left the train at Montezuma next morning, spent the day in getting the trail and on Tuesday put out in good earnest; passed the Flint River factory, from thence to Thomaston, thence to Fairburn, rom thence to Thomaston, thence to Fairburn, crossing the Chattahoochee river at Old Cambleton, thence by the way of Douglasville to Dallas, where he found the whereabouts of the parties. With Mr. Moon, the sheriff and the marshal of Dallas (to whom he says he is greatly indebted for favors, as also to Mr. Foote for pecuniary favors), he left for the arrest. The sheriff asked Colson if he knew a man by the name of Daniel Tanner.

the arrest. The sheriff asked Colson if he knew a man by the name of Daniel Turner, of Berrien county. Colson denied ever having heard of such a man. The sherifi then brought in Dan, who took Colson by the hand and said:

and said:
"Howdy, Dan," smilingly.
Ben said, "howdye, Dan," and gave in.
They went back to Dallas, took the train in the morning and reached Alapaha that night and then went on to Nashville, where Colson and then went on to Nashville, where Colson was locked up. The father, mother and family of Mrs. Colson were attending church in the village, but the wife never knew of the arrival until after service, when she presented a pitiable object, a young and tender wife with an infant babe, and husband in jail. She did not care to see him.

Shoulder.

GARREVILLE, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—
About 2 o'clock last night the beautiful and valuable horse of Mr. John A. Smith was stoien. A negro boy sleeping in the harn heard the thief, but at the time supposed it was Mr. Smith himself, but after awhile decided to investigate the matter. He arose and soon gave the alarm, About 3 o'clock Marshal from Hanie and Mr. John Martin, gathering all the information possible, started in hot pursuit down the Lawrenceville road, which leads to wards Atlanta. After a ride of 30 miles over a very rough country, and by the exercise of wards Atlants. After a ride of 30 miles over a very rough country, and by the exercise of fine detective skill in tracking the horse, and from inquiring at many places, they came on the thief and his prize about ten miles below here. He was walkings leading the horse, and dashed into the woods as soon he saw Hanie and Martin. They followed, and succeeded in capturing him, and brought him into town about 11 o'clock with a pistol ball in his left shoulder and otherwise badly bruised. Mr. Smith is in Macon attending the Sunday school convention, but has been kept fully advised smith is in anacon attending the sunday school convention, but has been kept fully advised by telegraph. Messrs. Hanie and Martin were warmly congratulated for their energetic and skilful pursuit and capture of the thief. His name is Abe Hinson, and he is a brother to the negro who drives for Mr. Smith.

MURDER IN MERIWETHER.

A Crank Kills His Companion-His Reasons for the Deed.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—Yester-day afternoon at Woodbury, in Meriwether county, James Cartwright shot and killed Bud Johnson. They were sitting on a fence talk-ing when, without warning, Cartwright shot Johnson through the head, instantly killing him. Cartwright says that he was told by God to kill Johnson. He has been under a religious craze for several days, but public opinion is divided as to his insanity. He is now in jail at Greenville. Caught in a Still-House.

TALLULAH, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—Deputy United States Marshal A. C. Godfrey.came here yesterday evening with Sam Cantrell, whom he says he caught in a still-house, about six miles above Clayton. Mr. Godfrey reports that he destroyed a first-rate sixty gallon still and twelve tubs of beer. He says there was about one gallon of whisky in the house and a keg of low-wines or backings. They will leave on the first train for Gainesville, to hear what Judge James Gaston has to say in the SUDDEN DEATH IN SAVANNAH. Mr. Silas M. Colding Falls Dead in a Count ing Room.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—This morning about 11 o'clock Mr. Silas M. Colding, a well known citizen in the employ of Messrs. John Flannery & Co., died very suddenly. He was in his usual health apparently and had not been heard to complain of feeling unwell. He was at his desk attending to his duties, when his fellow clerks were surprised to see him suddenly totter and fall heavily to the floor. They at once approached him and were shocked to find that life was extinct. His death was instantaneous. Mr. Colding was a native of Savannah, and was about fifty-seven years of age. He was for many years engaged in the cotton business under the firm name of Colding & Turner, and was well known in the business community. After the dissolution of that firm he was engaged in several occupa-tions, the past few years with the firm in whose service he died. He was a member of Ancient Landmark Lodge, No. 231, F. & A. M. He leaves a wife and several children. His leath is attributed to heart disease.

A Lady Badly Burned.

MACON, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Owens, a Jones county lady, walked into Tom Womak's store, East Macon, this evening. Inbut for the united efforts of several gentle she would have burned to death. Pink Bird and Aleck Johnson were badly burned extin-guishing the flames. The lady's hands are terribly burned so that the kin dropped off.

Honor to a Worthy Colored Man. DARIEN, Gs., May 12.—[Special.]—The funeral of Henry Todd, aged 73, a worthy colored man, was the great event of the past week. The deceased had by economy and prudence accumulated considerable wealth, and throughout his whole career he distinguished himself for scrupplus honesty. The guished himself for scrupulous honesty. The whites respected him, and amongst the colored whites respected him, and amongst the colored people he was beloved on account of his many acts of philanthropy. Six of our most prominent citizens acted as pall bearers at his funeral, viz: Messrs. A. C. Wylly, E. P. Champency, Louis Collat, Adam Strain, James Walker and A. E. Dimmock. This fact evinces beyond question the esteem in which the deceased was held, and that the proverbial race prejudice of the southerner is easily overcome when he feels it his duty to pay tribute to sterling personal worth.

Deaths in Georgia

Archie the nine year-old son of Judge Howell Cobb, of Athens, died yesterday morning. The dreadful epidemic that killed this child as also Mr A. J. Cobb is still raging in Athens and new cases are bourly reported. It is very fatal. The sufferer is first attacked with a spell of vomiting and soon goes into spasms. The cases reported are better. Judge Erwin has two children attacked.

GEORGIA BREVITIES.

Crops are very good in Wilcox county. The turpentine and timber business is the rder of the day in Wilcox county. Mr. J. E. Bowen has just returned to Abbeville from Savannah, after an absence of three or four days.

Dr. Royal and lady, of Crisp, Ga., have been visiting relatives in Abbeville. They were the guests of Major Reed.

Business in Abbeville is quite dail just now, the weather being so fine everybody is at work. Consequently but little trading is the result at present.

The steamer Colville, is now making two trips a week to Abbeville, which shows there must be some business done along near the banks of the Ocmuigee.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMAHENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testingous to the truth of the assertion entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimeny to the truth of the assection that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole familiate have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case mere certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, to quires eathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY FILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

MAY CROP REPORT.

CONDITION OF FIELD PRODUCTS IN

dissioner Henderson's Report Shows That the respect is Hopeful-Large Acresge in Cora-Fall-Sown Oats a Failure-The Outlook for the Fruit Crop Good, Etc., Etc.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. T. Hender-on received the proof sheets of the May crop report, yesterday afternoon.

The extracts here given will be found, on the whole, to be encouraging. The crop reported to be in the worst condition is fall-sown

The acreage is reported above the average of five years in all parts of the state, except in southeast Georgia. This is due largely to the winter-killed condition of the fall-sown oats, much of the area that could not be reseeded in the spring having been given to this crop. In north Georgia, where there is but a limited area in fall oats, the increase in the acreage in corn is reported at one per cent, and in southeast Georgia, where the oat crop was not ser-tously damaged, the acreage was about three per cent below the average. In the other sec-tions, and where the damage was greatest, there is an increase of from three to five per cent, and in some counties as much as twelve per cent.

The condition and prospect on the 1st of May is reported in north Georgia 94, in middle Geòrgia 93, in southwest Georgia 92, in east Georgia 97, and southeast Georgia 80.

CATS.

The acreage in this crop, compared to an average of five years in the whole state, is 77. In north Georgia 98, in middle Georgia 86, in southwest Georgia 75, in east Georgia 63, and in southeast Georgia 61. About 16 per cent of the crop, now standing was sown in the fall.

The condition and prospect, compared to an average of five years, for the state is 76, in north Georgia 93, in middle Georgia 83, in southwest Georgia 70, in east Georgia 73, and in southeast Georgia 59.

The acreage of the crop has been greatly reduced by the cold winter, a large part of the crop being entirely destroyed by freezing out in January. Some of this was resown in the spring, but a large part of this area in southern Georgia has been planted in corn and cotton. From present indications not more than three-fourths of a crop can be expected.

The acreage compared to an average in OATS.

fourths of a crop can be expected.

WHEAT.

The acreage, compared to an average in north Georgia, is 84; in middle Georgia, 85; in southwest Georgia, 66; in east Georgia, 76, and in southeast Georgia, 100. The condition and prospect in the respective sections 76, 57, 76, 74 and 110. The acreage for the whole state is 78, and the condition and prospect 71. There has been a gradual decrease in the acreage of this crop since 1882. The reports of the present year show a discount off of about 28 per cent from the average of five years.

Unfavorable reports of the condition and prespect have been received from most of the counties. The crop has been badly winter-killed, and the disparaging condition of the crop, as reported at this date, is largely due to this cause.

The acreage is reported in north and southwest Georgia 97, in middle Georgia 96, in east Georgia 100, in southeast Georgia 98, and in the whole state 98.

The time of planting is later than usual in all parts of the state. This, in north Georgia, is reported three days later in middle gard.

is reported three days later, in middle and east Georgia eight days, in southwest Georgia twelve days, and in east Georgia thirteen days—making the planting in the whole state about nine days later than the average of five

The proportion of the crop that was up on the first of May is reported 18 per cent in north Georgis, 24 in middle Georgia, 58 in southwest Georgia, 52 in east Georgia, 64 in southeast Georgia, and 43 in the whole state. The stand of the stand where up on the 1st of May in comparison with a good stand in of May, in comparison with a good stand in north Georgia, is 87, in middle Georgia 88, in southwest Georgia 74, in east Georgia 89, and in southeast Georgia 91.

The condition and prospect of the crop, in comparison with five years in north Georgia, is 100, middle Georgia 85, east Georgia 92, southeast Georgia 90, and in the whole state Peaches.—The per cent of a full crop of peaches that has escaped frost is reported by correspondents in north Georgia 70, in middle Georgia 83, in southwest Georgia 97, in east Georgia 88, and in southeast Georgia 82. Au entire failure of the crop is reported only in a limited area, embracing two or three counties in the northeastern part of the state.

Apples.—The per cent of a full crop of apples that he work is northeastern.

POOR CROP PROSPECTS. The Prevailing Drouth Destroying Wheat

The Prevailing Dronth Destroying Wheat and Oats.

Hogansville, Ga., May 12.—[Special.]—At this writing the outlook as tends to farming prospects are anything but encouraging. The weather very dry and for the season cool, not one planter out of ten has a stand of cotton, and that which has come up looks discouraging, small and delicate. On all stubble lands it is being fearfully destroyed by the bugs, called here the "cotton flea," a very small insect, jumping and hopping when approached, seeking its abode in the dry, loose eatrh, rendered porus by the stubble that has been mixed with the soil by plowing. Wheat a perfect failure and about the last spark of hope is expiring of the oat crop. The extreme dry weather is the cause of the condition of the oat crop that was so promising a few days ago; and the wheat having been killed out, until it is too thin, by last winter's cold. Corn small, but good stands, and looking well, having been worked over is clean and in good condition to receive rain when it does come, and will then grow fast, as the land has been generally well prepared and fertilized, with over the average crop planted. Fruit of all varieties is doing well. The trees are not so heavily loaded as last year, yet there is a good crop, and on account of there not being so much on the trees will make it larger and more serviceable. Stock of all kinds is doing well. A poor cow, hog or horse is something rarely seen now. Since we have had the stock law adopted, all stock are improving in looks, and more beneficial as to their retpective uses. Labor, on account of the drouth, is not much in demand. But little work to do on the farm causes day hands to be on foot while the employers ride. and Oats.

The most convenient and durable fly fan

GEO. E. KING THE LATEST IMPROVED ever offered.

It is no longer a luxury but a necessity. It is self-acting, winds up like a stem-wind-ing watch—complete in itself—requires no key —thereby avoiding the great annoyance of looking for a misplaced or lost key. It drives all flies away by the shadow and movement of the wings while revolving, will run one hour and a half at each winding, and can be rewound at any time by simply using the thumb screw at bottom, or turning base or stem.

It is more durable than the old style Fly-Fan as the journals all have brass bearings. The spindles and wing holders are made of steel, nickle-plated, and the interior works are of the best material, and specialty adapted for easy motion and long wear.

THE reports from all parts of the state indicate serious damage to the oat and wheat crops. The long drouth now prevalent has proven disastrous. Fruit, however, while not as heavy as last year, promises to be RIGHT REV. THOMAS H. BECKER, the newly designated Catholic bishop of Savannah, will make his first appearance in Atlanta tonight. He is a man of ripe scholarship, and will be welcomed as one of the ecclesiastical dignitaries of the state.

It was a happy coincidence that General Gordon should have addressed the people of Americus from the spot upon which Ben Hill stood in 1868 when he so forcibly arraigned the Bullock legislature. Gordon was the elected governor of the people then, though counted out of it by political chicanery, and the people have treasured his name

THE religious denominations are having a busy time holding conventions. The southern Baptists have just completed their labors at Montgomery; the Methodists are in quadrennial session at Richmond; the Episcopals of this diocese yesterday met in Savannah, and the meeting of the board of directors of the Catholic university in Baltimore was largely attended by dignitaries of that church.

Taking Snap Judgment on the People. A correspondent has sent us the following suggestive article:

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 11, 1886.—Editors Constitu-on: The democracy of Georgia ought to protest in the most emphatic manner against the late meeting in Clarke county.

meeting in Clarke county.

That meeting was without the shadow of excuse or justification except to foreclose the issue against General Gordon before he had a hearing.

Called three weeks even before the State committee had met to call the convention, its only pur pose must be call the convention, its only pur-pose must have been to secure the delegates for Bacon before any other candidate had a chance to be heard. Was this fair or democratic? If the county meeting can properly be called before the state committee has met and called the convention, why was it not called last year? Bacon was a candidate then. If this principle is admitted, why may we not expect little county meetings to be held in the next campaign six months before the state committee meets? Where is the limit to be set, if not with the meeting of the state

If any democrat of Clarke county can show any reason why party discipline should be ignored and this meeting called now instead of two months later—except to "run in" the Bacon delegates before the campaign had opened and its issues discussed—thousands of democrats will be glad to hear them? As it now stands, it looks like snap judgment that should neither be permitted r indorsed. While I write this in the interest of emocratic unity and success, I sign myself in A STRONG GORDON MAN. Our correspondent is right. If the right of a county to select delegates three weeks before the state committee has met, is admitted, there is no reason why they should not select delegates twelve months before the state committee has met. If 41 men had the right to meet last Friday, and pledge the delegates of that county to a convention not yet called, to Major Bacon, they had the same right to have met last September and have done the same thing. Acquiescence in this practice may lead to very ugly results in the future. Some of Major Bacon's supporters have spoken out against this matter. In two of the counties prematurely polled for Major Bacon, the result of the "meetings" will be reversed by a popular movement. General Gordon and his friends ask for primaries in every county. They recognize the people as supreme. They want nothing that the people will not give through the ballot-box. If Major Bacon and his friends will join them in this respect, the people will have the chance to control the election otherwise the politicians will control. Remember, General Gordon and his friends ask for primaries. Major Bacon's friends oppose them. This issue cannot be obscured.

A Feature of the Campaign.

A very curious feature of the gubernatorial campaign is the idea, or belief, that seems to be entertained by the friends of Mr. Bacon in regard to the candidacy of General Gordon. This idea, or belief, is to the effect that General Gordon, by becoming a candidate for the nomination has vio lated some precedent, or committed some breach of propriety that ought to be punished. We have observed vague hints of this sort in several of the newspapers that have been advocating the claims of Mr. Bacon, and there is a similar intimation in the report of Mr. Bacon's Augusta speech.

The report is a very meagre synopsis of the speech, but it seems to be a sympathetic "For months," said Mr. Bacon, according to this report, "the question of selecting a democratic candidate for governor had been considered calmly by the people, The names of several distinguished gentlemen had been selected, but nearly all had declined. Only two avowed candidates remained in this canvass, which was absolutely devoid of excitement or feeling. The general drift of preference seemed to set steadily in one direction. The popular mind was adsting itself to circumstances as to the result. One of the avowed candidates gracefully retired. With his retirement came the excuse that it was necessary that some one commanding, towering form should appear on the scene to heal the divisions and unite the factions. All was peace when Gordon leaped into the arena with dramatic accoment. With positions reversed, Bacon have acted as Gordon did."

bether this report from which we have quoted is correct, but if it is even substantially correct it affords a capital illustration of the curious-not to say extraordin'ary-feature of the campaign to which we have alluded. There is an unmistakable intimation that General Gordon, in becoming a candidate before the people, has invaded some other candidate's rights, or poached upon some other candidate's pre-

To what extent this remarkable state of mind will lend heat to the canvass we do not know; but it is a fact, apparent to everybody in the state, that no candidate has a lien on the gubernatorial nomination. That honor is one for which any citizen, or any number of citizens, from the highest to the lowest, may compete. There can be no series of circumstances, no combination of results, which will give any candidate a lien on this privilege. Neither a series of victories, nor series of defeats, can give a candidate the right to press his claims before the people of the state unopposed by any other candidate. If it were otherwise-if it were in the power of any particular candidate to close the door to competition and oppositionthere would be no such thing as fair play, and fair play is a jewel that the people of this state prize very highly. That is all that any candidate can ask or desire. If Mr. Bacon is as strong with the people as his friends claim, the candidacy of General Gordon will not interfere with him very materially; if General Gordon is as strong as his friends believe him to be, the candidacy of Mr. Bacon will not trouble him.

The fact to be recognized—the fact that the people do recognize-is that these two gentlemen are candidates for the gubernatorial nomination. The claims of each will have to be left directly to the people. Neither candidate can afford to permit his opponent to say that he is in favor of unfair methods, or that he is striving to secure the nomination by unfair means. This is a campaign in which the attempt to take snap judgment on the people will fail, as it ought to fail. Primary elections, at which all the voters of the democratic party in Georgia may have an opportunity of expressing their choice, are in the direction of fair play. At the result of such elections, neither candidate can afford to protest.

There is another point in Mr. Bacon's Augusta speech which should be corrected here. He says-or is reported as saying-that the excuse given for General Gordon's candidacy is that a "commanding, towering form should appear on the scene to heal the divisions and unite the factions." We have never heard of any such excuse. The democratic party of Georgia is now, and has been for some time, thoroughly united. There are no divisions and no factions. The only difference of opinion among democrats just now is as to whether General Gordon or Mr. Bacon shall be governor of the state.

Labor's Friend and Enemy. Next fall the Knights of Labor will elect their grand master. The re-election of Mr. Powderly will, of course, be the best thing for the order, and for the cause of labor. Unfortunately this wise and moderate leader is not without enemies in his own household.

In the Knights of Labor, as in every simlar society, there is a conservative element and an extreme element. Mr. Powderly represents the conservatives. He favors ar bitration and judicious legislation, in short, peaceful remedies. He opposes boycotts, strikes, lawlessness and intemperance. The extremists, while they have not committed themselves to socialistic doctrines, have been more or less influenced by them. They want to revolutionize things at once, peaceably if they can, and forcibly if they see no other short cut.

Martin Irons represents the extremists. This man's hot-headed course during the southwestern strike will be recollected by our readers. Irons is sullen and dissatisfied because Mr. Powderly condemned him for precipitating an unwise and unnecessary onflict. He has his backers, and the scheme is to bring about a change in the general board, placing Irons at the head, with associates who favor what is called an aggressive policy.

No greater disaster could befall the knights than the election of a man like Martin Irons. At present the organization commands respect. Capitalists and statesmen listen to its complaints, and public opinion is largely with it. This is because the knights have endeavored to regard the rights of others while maintaining their own. But under a leader who countenance violence and open defiance of the law, the knights will see public sentiment solidly arrayed against them. The election of an extremist means the disruption and decay of the order. If the knights are wise they will stick to Powderly, who is their friend, and reject Irons, who is in reality their enemy. The Georgia Bonds and Governor McDaniel.

We print in another column the history of the sale of the three and a half million of Georgia bonds that has just been closed up by Governor McDaniel and the purchasers. It is the largest single transaction in the se curities of this state ever made for cash, and Governor McDaniel deserves the thanks of the people of the state for the careful business way be has handled it.

When we consider the threats that have been made for years by the holders of the Georgia bogus bonds, that when it became necessary for the state to go into the markets of the world to procure money, that they would find the state had no credit; and when we recall to mind the frantic efforts of Henry Clews and his associates, backed by some of the press of the north, to carry these threats into execution when the proposition was published to sell this large amount of state bonds, we can see some of the difficulties that Governor McDaniel had to encoun ter in this transaction. Georgia was fortunate in having a gover nor, when this test came to be made, who had sense enough to manage it with so much skill and such great firmness. We can all recall the fact that not a few nembers of the legislature that passed the bill thought it would be impossible to float a five per cent bond at par. A majority thought it could be done, and wisely gave the governor large discretion to reduce the rate if possible. The facts which we print show that he not only was able to sell the bonds for less than five per cent, but that he sold them for less than four and a half per cent, and in this single transaction saved the state eighty thousand dollars per annum in interest, and demonstrated to the world that Georgia bonds were as good in the markets of the world as the bonds of any state in the union. We but voice the sentiment of all good men inGeorgia when we say that he has made an admirable transaction for the state.

It is not claiming too much to say that this negotiation made it possible to float a four and a half per cent municipal bond in this state, and that so firm and fixed has been the judgment of the financial world on the status of affairs, that it would be possible now to float a three and a half per cent state bond at par. In fact these very bonds cannot be purchased anywhere today for less than one hundred and eight, and many of our best financiers say they will reach one hundred and ten by July the Governor McDaniel had the hearty co-operation of all the departments under him in this transaction, and from our personal knowledge the able and calm judgment of Attorney General Anderson, and the careful manner in which every contract was drawn, as the matter developed, from the first bid to the final payment of the money, greatly aided him in making such a decided success of the sale.

Treasurer Hardeman was indefatigable in his department, and has probably performed more work in this single transaction than any treasurer was ever called upon to do for the small amount of compensation allowed It will be a magnificent record for a governor to be able to say when he quietly retires from the office of governor, "I saved my people over one hundred and thirty thousand dollars annually in interest.' No governor ever did better work for a state or builded a more lasting monument to his fame. It may be said that other men have not had the opportunity. But those who know the facts know that Governor McDaniel, by his courage and ability largely made this opportunity for himself. If Governor McDaniel's service as governor held no work but this, it would be a memorable and beneficent administration.

The Young Men's Library.

The reports of the Young Men's Library presented on Tuesday evening, show that one of our valued institutions is in need of help. The chief trouble is a bonded debt to which the rental of the stores on the ground floor is, by contract, devoted. This debt is $12,000, and if it could be taken up at once, the library association could buy new books, and expand in other ways suffi ciently to meet the wants of our people in the way of reading matter. As things are going, however, the debt will not be redeemed inside of ten years, and a decade of sluggishness and inefficiency is too dreadful to contemplate. But unless the debt is cancelled, the present state of things will be continued, with every prospect of becoming worse.

The people of this city can not afford to let an institution capable of, and in every way fitted for, great good to the community to become crippled by debt. The debt should be paid off, and the library left free to carry out its mission. The debt, it should be remembered, is not a floating debt incurred on account of operating expenses, but is a part of the cost of the lot and building. The property of the association is valuable, but its net income is not. It has no money to put into books, no money to expend for periodicals, no money with which to make its spacious quarters more attractive to young men. Every branch of its work is obstructed, postponed, dwarfed or wholly blocked through the want of funds. The bonded debt absorbs the income. Atlanta should wipe it out, and unloose the hands of the young men who give their time to the work. The new board have the task before them. Let us hope their efforts will be generously met, and that at the end of the coming year our favorite institution will be debt-free, and will thus be able to renew its old-time effi-

The Greek Trouble.

It is scarcely conceivable that Greece is about to fight Turkey simply to satisfy the clamor of the people, who threaten to mob the government if the army is withdrawn from the frontier. It is certainly not probable that she is without some assurance of support. The fact that the Russian and French ambassadors remain in Athens, while the British, Italian, German and Austrian ministers have gone to their respective ships shows that the Grecian cause is by no means without friends among the powers. If the little peninsular state can hold its own in the field for a short time, it is believed there will be a general rising in the Balkan states and that Russia and France will find an opportunity to come to the rescue, and that there will either be a general European war, or else Greece will obtain the territory decreed to her by the Berlin treaty. The Greeks evidently know what they are doing. They are not crazy. They mean business and Russia will be apt to regard acts of coercion on the part of the allied powers, as an excuse for the march she has long contemplated.

It is a little singular that Dr. William A. Hammond, the eminent surgeon and novelist, has never been claimed as a southerner. He is a native of Annapolis, Md., but during the war was a surgeon general of the federal army. During recent years he has found time in the midst of his extensive practice to write novels, short stories and plays. He is a wonderful worker. He gives himself just sixty days in which to write a novel of some four or five hundred printed pages, and does not consider that rapid writing by any means. The doctor has not injured his medical reputation by his literary pursuits. He is a great authority on nervous diseases, and makes big fees. Although an old man now, he possesses the next thing to youth, a pretty young wife, and the two are very popular in New York society circles.

The special says that the president is much amused to find it generally believed that he is to marry the daughter instead of the mother. Yes, it is very laughable. It must tickle a man to death to know that he is engaged to a woman of forty-four instead of a girl of twenty-two.

BUFFALO gnats are terrible pests in the Misissippi valley. The other day Bill Saeiss, in Crittenden county, Ark., was stung and choked to death by these gnats. When he was found gnats were crawling in and out of his ears and nose. His mouth and nostrils were filled with gnats. Swarms of gnats had settled in his wide stretched eyes, and were feeding on the sightless orbs. His clothing was filled with gnats, and a halo of gnats hovered around the dead man. Sneiss had been in the L'Anguille swamp, and it is supposed that he tried to run away from the gnats The insects were so thick, however, that they drove him wild, and, finally becoming exhausted, he fell prostrate, then was smothered by the swarms of gnats. The death of Sneiss must have been horrible-choked into etern ity by seething, living myriads of insects. This is the second case on record where buffa lo gnats have destroyed human life.

GEORGIA BONDS ALL SOLD.

History of the Negotiations-Fine Record for Georgia.

The announcement that Treasurer Hardeman and Secretary Palmer, of the executive department, have returned from New York, whither they had been sent by Governor McDaniel to complete the delivery of the 4½ per cent bonds, will remind the people of the most successful manetal transaction in the history of the state. We present the details as a matter of interest to our readers:

The legislature, December 5, 1884, empowered the governor to issue and sell $3,445,000 bonds, bearing not exceeding 5 per cent interest, to pay principal of 5 per cent, 7 per cent, and 6 per cent mode of state, maturing in 1885 and 1886; about $3,000,000 of this amount being 7 per cent, maturing July 1, 1886. On account of the state university having some of the 8 per cent, bonds funded under a previous statute, the amount actually issued was $3,392,000. The act authorized public sale by competitive hidding, and the rejection of all bids, and sale by private negotiation; in other words, either public or private sale. sale by private negotiation; in other words, either public or private sale. Governor McDaniel advertised for bids on 5 per

Governor McDaniel advertised for bids on 5 per cent, bonds, deliverable in installments to meet maturing bonds. The general bipinion in Georgia was that it would be impossible to float bonds at par baring a lower rate of interest. The bids were opened April 15th, 1885, and amounted in the aggregate to nearly $18,000,000. Two bids, regular in all respects for the entire issue, came from New York—one from John H. Imman at 101½, the other from Moses Taylor & Co., at 104. Fred Wolfre & Co. bid for the whole amount in 4½ per cent bonds from Moses Taylor & Co., at 104. Fred Wolffe & Co bid for the whole amount in 4½ per cent bond at par, but the bid was irregular, in several particulars. Albert Netter, representing Cheinnati can bid for the whole amoint in 4½ per cent bonds at par, but the bid was irregular, in several particulars. Albert Netter, representing Checinnati capitalists, put in an informal offer for the entire issue of 4½ per cent at par.

The aggregate of Georgia bids was $1,014,000, ranging from 107½ to 98 for five per cent bonds, and making an average of about 103½. The average of all the bids was about 102½. The Wolffe bid was the highest, and was for the whole issue. But he demanded deliveries arlier than was necessary to pay maturing bonds, viz. $1,500,000 July 1, 1885, and the balance in October and January thereafter. This would have entailed a loss of about $100,000 in interest, while the money was fale in the treasury, and in the meantime the state would have had two sets of bonds outstanding.

The next highest bid for the entire issue was from Moses Taylor & Co.: 104 for 5 per cent, bonds. The bid was regular in every respect, and flattering to the credit of the state, proposing to take the bonds just as the governor had advertised he would deliver them. But it was decidedly lower than Wolffe's bid, and its acceptance would have entailed on the state a loss of more than $500,000 of interest in the thirty, years the bonds will be outstanding. Besides this, the governor had bids from Geory isns for enough to meet immediate necessities, that were higher than the Taylor & Co. bid, and nearly as high as the Wolffe bid.

He therefore decided to reject all the bids, exercising the privilege provided in the statue and reserved in the advertisement. He rejected the bid of Moses, Taylor & Co., because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its cising the privilege provided in the statute and reserved in the advertisement. He rejected the bid of Moses, Taylor & Co., because of its lower price, and the Wolffe bid because of its irregularity, and the Georgia bids because the highest was lower in price than the Wolffe bid.

When the rejection of all the bids was announced, many business men thought the governor had committed a grave mistake, and that he would never negotiate its bodds as a furnished to the control of the con ds on as favorable terms as he had i grave mistake, and that he would never negotiate its bonds on as favorable terms as he had rejected. He was firm, however, in his conviction that the state ceuld do better, and boldly exercised the discretion vested in him.

After the announcement that all the bids had been rejected there was considerable correspondence and flattering bids for portions or all of the bonds on basis of par for 4½ per cent bonds. Some of these came from New York, others from Georgians. Messrs. Wolffe & Co. advanced their offer from par to 516 per cent premium for 4½ per cent; bends, deliverable at the time specified the governor's advertisement, viz. $100,000 July 1, 1885, $250,000 January 1, 1885, and $8,642,000 May 1, 1886. This was the highest bid made by anybody for any part or all of the issue. The premium amounts to more than $10,000 and is sufficient to more than cover all the cost of ergraving, exchanges and other incidental expenses, there being no commission paid to anybody. To secure compliance with their contract, Wolffe and Co., and the Guarantee Trust and Safe Deposited in the reasury $172,756.50 to be held as security until the last bond was delivered and paid for, and to be forfeited if the contract was not compiled with in every particular. The state reserved the right to use this sum as a temporary loan pending the fulfillment of the contract. An important stipulation provided that the purchasers might demand any part of the last delivery at any time after temporary loan pending the fulfillment of the contract. An important stipulation provided that the purchasers might demand any part of the last delivery at any time after July 1, 1885, upon presenting maturing bonds and paying the premium in cash, the state paying the difference in interest at maturity between the 7 per cent and 4½ per cent bonds. Every bond taken in exchange under this arrangement was canceled and the transaction was complete, without possibility of loss to the state in handling the money. At the same time it increased the per centum of the security. It may be added here that under this clause in the contract, nearly $800,000 of the bonds have been delivered and canceled. Upon the announcement of this sale of the bonds to Wolffe and his assoctates, predictions were freely made in New York, of this sale of the bonds to Wolffe and his associates, predictions were freely made in New York, Georgia and elsewhere that the contract could not be carried out by the purchasers. Fierce attacks were made by Henry Clews and other northern capitalists upon the credit of the state. The press of the north lent itself extensively to the circulation of slanders upon the financial history of Georgia. No effort was spared to cripple the credit of the state, so as to make it impossible for Wolffe and his associates to sell the bonds to investors. In spite of these efforts, however, the early deliveries sold at a fair premium, and the transaction had an appreciable effect upon all southern securities, state and municipal. To filustrate: On April 15th, 1885, Atlanta 5 per cent bonds could have been bought below 90 Recently the city of 'Atlanta cold over $100,000 4½ per cent bonds at par, showing an enougher to the could be seed to the bought below 90 Recently the city of 'Atlanta cold over $100,000 4½ per cent bonds at par, showing an enormous improvement in the credit of the city, which is largely attributable to this sale of 4½ per cent state bonds at a premium. No state in the south has, since the period of reconstruction, sold any such amount of bonds forcash. Many persons think it best for Georgians to hold the state bonds. This would be true if Georgians were lenders of money to the people of other states. But in fact, all the banks and corporations and many of the people of Georgia, borrow large sums of money annually from the people of other states. It is better, under these circumstances, to let the non-residents loan to the state, and leave home capital to be loaned at home to the people or to be invested in the state. However, Governor McDaniel had a plain duty to sell the bonds to whomsoever would pay the most for them and he has done that. The transaction will reduce the interest on this part of the public debt shout. $5000 annually, which in the

However, Governor McDaniel had a plain duty to sell the bonds to whomsoever would pay the most for them and he has done that. The transaction will reduce the interest on this part of the public debt about $50,000 annually, which in the 30 years the bonds have to run will amount to several millions saved to the taxpayers of the state. It will be remembered that in Feburary, 1884 Governor McDaniel paid off $750,000 of the debt, reducing to that extent the amount of bonds now to be paid. The saving in interest from this source is about $50,000 annually: So that in less than two years, through good management, the interest charge on the people of the state has been reduced about $130,000 annually: On the first instant, the last installment of bonds was deliverable. The state needing the money in New York. Treasurer Hardeman and Secretary Palmer were directed to take the bonds thither and complete the transaction at the time appointed. This has been done, bonds delivered and paid for. The deposit which had been used as a temporary loan has been refunded out of money appropriated for that purpose. The state now has money on hand to pay all its maturing bonds.

Meantime the new bonds are selling in the markets of the world at a handsome premium. And several hundred thousand of them have been bought by Georgians, showing their confidence in the loan. This transaction may be regarded as a final and conclusive answer to all aspersions of Clews and his allies, north and south, upon the good faith of Georgia in dealing with her debt. In three or four years between four and five millions of Georgia bonds will mature. It will be less difficult, then, if there be no general rise in interest, to float four per cent bonds. Nay, it will be scarcely less difficult to float three per cent Georgia bonds than it was for Governor McDaniel to float this issue of 4½ per cent bonds at a premium, against the combined efforts of northern capitalists to break down the credit of the state, and in face of the fact that the people of Georgia torney for Wolffe and his associates that the transaction.

Treasurer Hardeman bore a large part of the anxiety and labor. Besides attesting the bonds, he was required to sign all the coupons, about 200,000 in number, and of course to make all settlements et. eet. His satisfactory performance of these duties is matter of congratulation. Colonel Barnett, secretary of state, attested the bonds and placed on them the great seal, no small task, with other pressing duties. The necessary records in the task, with other The necessary reco executive department, treasurer's and secretary of state's effices involved very considerable increase in the ordinary labors of these offices, all of which have been faithfully performed.

The bonds are quoted today at 108, and it is hard to find many for sale at that price. Georgia's credit is certainly in a healthy condition.

Caught on the Run.

In the south Georgia papers I see the announcement that Charles Johnson is dead. That is a very simple announcement. Men die every day, and are forgotten. But Charles Johnson was not and are forgotten. But Charles Johnson was not of the ordinary sort. His was a life out of the common run. I don't pretend to say how long he lived at the place where his death occurred. He was 103 years old when he died, and he had seen several generations pass away. He was a midship-man in the British navy in his youth. His boy-hood was passed in the streets of London. He was a cockney by birth, and the singular traits and characteristics of that class were never entire-ly obliterated. He showed the same contempt for his hs that was born in him. I have heard him. tell now he left the city, enlisted in the navy, and was in hearing of the portentious echoes of lington's guns of fateful Waterloo.

Few can boast, as he could, that he had "seen Bony." But he saw him at a distance. It ship was near the one that bore the greatest hero the world ever saw to the desert isle of St. Helena. Old Uncle Charlie did not use the cuss word as the Americans do. He would say, "Dom it, I saw Bony. 'E was the smallest man I hever saw to bear such a name. Boy as I was, I felt a thrill in me body has I looked hon that vessel with hits mighty cyargo; Often have I listened to that old gentleman as he would sit and recount the days of his youth, when the map of Europe was changed so rapidly that the geographers were in despair. To hear him talk of "that mighty somnambulist of a vanished dream" was like peeping between the musty leaves of some old volume long out of print.

In the course of time Mr. Johnson, having grown to man's estate, married a handsome young lady of ample fortune, in the eastern part of the state, and he bent his steps westward to the stock range<sub>4</sub> A glorious land of milk and honey opened up before his vision when he reached the Ocopilco river. A range of low, undulating ridges, with shallow bottoms intervening, clad in rich and succulent herbs and grasses, with interminable canebrakes on the larger water courses, formed a striking picture to the planter-ranger In these wilds his herds of cattle and flocks of sheep, with the big, half wild swine, might in crease and grow fat with few drawbacks. There were deer, turkeys, with an occasional bear, with lavish shundance of small game, in the swamps and broad pine forests; and in the streams were fish that were waiting for somebody to come and catch them. It was a land of plenty, flowing with milk and honey.

What mattered it if Thomasville were only a wayside station on the stage line, and a poor market for hides and tallow? Who cared if Albany paid a better price for beeswax and chickens and eggs? The former was thirty, and the latter about fifty miles away, Savannah or St. Marks were either of them good shipping points for the long horned beef cattle that were driven for hundred of miles to market. The streets of Quitman and Valdosta had not been blazed out through the pine forest then. Charlie Johnson purchased four lots of land in a square. Four militia districts cornered there. They had to lay it off in districts, twenty miles square, so as to locate the habitations. These districts bore the same relation to counties, as counties do to some little states. Each contained ive hundred and twenty-nine lots, each lot four hundred and ninety acres, more or less. The last proviso was the saving clause, because it was generally more or less.

With two thousand acres of choice land and the great wide world to draw on, Charlie Johnson was monarch of all he surveyed, and there was nobody present to dispute. The Ocopilco drug its sluggish rown current right through the middle of his do main. Along its western margin lay the fertile portion of the lands, and there he put his slaves to work, and the primeval growth of the forest soon gave place to broad fields of the products for which southern Georgia is most especially noted. Ranks or Indian corn, with tangles of peavines, and snowy fields of cotton, and great stretches of pinders and potatoes greeted the eye after a long onely ride through these terrible monoton pine barrens. It was a genuine oasis to the weary traveler who was surprised to come suddenly upon the environs of this princely estate. It was and is a remarkable place, for it remains very nearly as was at first so far as its comparative size is con cerned.

One by one the small farmers moved in and equatted around him. One by one they died out or moved away, and still the old ploneer remained. Two children, a son and daughter, were borne him, and it seemed that life in all its sweet, monotonous simplicity must bloom, bear fruit and fade into a peaceful death, with never an event of break its wone sun rose day by day above the tall and somber pine trees, and sank at even behind the low hills. so passed the years of his life. Prosperity could not do otherwise than smile upon him under such favorable circumstances. It was like wrestling with fortune and possessing all the under hold. lation, and the wealth of the woods grew while he slept. Even the shock of the civil heaviest swell in reaching him in his seclusion. His slaves hardly knew from what period to date their freedom, and the old planter lived right along as if nothing had happened.

His saddest hour was when an accident occurred to his beloved wife, and he was left a widower. True to her memory he played at the game of love no more through all the long years that ifollowed. Then came the son of a wealthy planter of Lownder county and married the young and lovely daughter. The old man lived to see her youth renewed n the person of her charming daughter, who, I believe, has been married some time. His son-in law, Captain Jere Wells, is an old citizen of Valdosta. The son followed in the footsteps of his sire. He married a wife of good family, and made his home near the old mansion, and there remained. By and by the old man felt the weight of ac cumulated years on his stalwart shoulders, and the management of the estate fell on the son; but far from grumbling or growing peevish, the centen narian was as cheery as a cricket, and as full of reminiscent lore as Peter Parley.

I have told you a very simple story, I know, and I have been searching for half an hour for a point or moral to it. I shall have to give it up. It was such an uneventful life, such a peaceful life, and such a prosperous life that I can only say that he was fully ripe when the Reaper cut him down. But I have watched the wild grape vines and the old worm fence when the first buds unfolded, and I have watched the promise of their yellow green blooms. In summer I have gazed on the berries as they grew larger, and under the misty blue skies of autumn I have found every promise ful-filled in their purple lusciousness. That old man saw the same scenes enacted in the same manner for more than half a century. In his dreams he might have groped in the fogs of London, as the wild thunder storms that sometimes burst over the plantation might have suggested the field of Waterloo. I don't know. Uncle Charlie is dead and gone, and a good neighbor and law abiding citizen is no more. I have told you the story of his life. It is restful to contemplate, moral or ne moral.

GREETING GORDON.

HOW THE GENERAL WAS WEL-COMED AT AMERICUS.

A Large Crowd of his Friends Meet. Him at the Depot and Escort Him to the Hotel—He Speaks to Them on the Issues of the Campaign—Other State Politics and News, Stc.

AMERICUS, Ga., May 12 .- [Special.]-The reception of General Gordon here this morning, was all that his most enthusiastic friends could have asked for. The large concourse of people that had assembled to welcome him at the depot was strongly augmented by several companies of firemen from adjacent cities, coming into the tournament upon the same train bearing the old veteran. His presence alone on the platform was sufficient to develop high enthusiasm, and much time was occupied in the ceremony of personal greetings.

After considerable delay from being thus engaged, the general was placed in the splendid phaeton of the Prince Bros., drawn by four matchless animals superbly caparisoned, and, preceded by the band-wagon and band, moved into the city. Just behind the general's carriage followed

AN UNIQUE TURNOUT, an ordinary country wagon loaded with one-legged confederate veterans, one of whom sustained a banner with the motto, "One Leg only, but Will Get There All the Same." This cenveyance, drawn by a solitary oxen, intensified the enthusiasm which the presence of General Gordon momentarily invited on the route of the procession. In passing the hotels the old here was saluted by crowds of ladies in the balconies. The old yell went up from the masses on the pavements until cheer begetting cheer, the enthusiasm became general. A large number of carriages and vehicles campleted the cavalcade, which, after doubling the public square, drew up and dismissed at the Allen house. During the dinner interval he was waited on by crowds of old soldiers with pledges of renewed allegiance, and by several committees from neighboring counties anxious to make appointments for him to address This afternoon in the presence of fifteen hundred people General Gordon was happily introduced by Mr. Thornton Wheatley, and held the enthusiastic attention of the crowd for more than an hour. In the outset of his remarks he mentioned that it had been predicted by his opponents that the campaign was to be a bitter one, and whilst disclaiming for himself all sentiment of this sort, he review ed, with the most pathetic effect, the period of real bitterness during and immediately subsequent to the war. He claimd abundant reasons for being himself IN THE BEST POSSIBLE HUMOR with mankind at large. He alluded to the fact that a candidate for anything who had the hostility of the Macon Telegraph had a carte blanche to the position to which he aspired. He would, therefore, repeat his messages of affection to that valuable organ for its efforts in his behalf. Referring to objections to his candidacy, he mentioned the one of Mr. Bacon's being first in the field. He could not see how Mr. Bacon could preempt the right to run for governor of Georgia, although he might understand how he could be barred by the statute of limitation.

Disposing of the charge that he had been brought out by the Atlanta ring he mentioned the fact that ex-Governor Smith, the most terdenunciator of that celebrated circle, together with the eloquent Dr. Miller, were among his strongest supporters, and concluded with the statement that the Macon Telegraph, in speaking of the Mongomery ceremony, referred to the fact that Judge Blanford the incorruptible jurist was over there and would care for Mr. Bacon's interest. He mentioned the fact that the judge was another one of his supporters, and again begged to tender the Telegraph his love. Referring to the expressed apprehension that if elected governor he and Joe Brown

WOULD STEAL THE STATE ROAD, he would say that it is a matter of record that he declined a share of that road, when it could have been immediately cashed for $50,-000, and that, therefore, he thought that any alarm of this sort could be quietly dismissed. In relation to the railroad com-mission he declared he did not have to make his record immediately after his candidacy. That he was just where he was fifteen years ago. That whilst the railroads had rights to be protected and whilst they were necessi-ties to the growing welfare of the state, he still admonished the people to stand by the commission. That the power of the commission should be zealously and scrupulously maintained. He referred to the fact of Mr. Bacon being the candidate of the railroads. did not understand such ower, but he was born in a school of politics which taught that the power of the people was supreme. In conclusion he alluded to the methods which were sought to be introduced in the selection of delegates to the convention, claiming that whilst a meeting of a dozen people might represent the sense of a county, that the voice of the people as

EXPRESSED IN PRIMARIES was indisputable, and the one correct method. During the progress of the general's speech, it was interesting to observe the effect on his lady hearers. In his feeling allusion to the period of bitterness, there were few dry eyes amongst them, whilst the most uproarous laughter would greet his happy illustrations in touching upon other and more immediate subjects. The meeting adjourned with cheers for Gordon, and it is gratifying to his friends to find that the public pulse in all this section indicates a sentiment of four to one in his favor.

James A. Harrison, M. A. Adams, John W. Osborn, W. R. Little, G. L. Carson and P. H. Bowers are spoken of as candidates for the legislature from Franklin county.

The Macon Telegraph says: "It is of course impossible that Gordon should ever be elected governor of Georgia, and we think he realizes it by this time." If this is true, it is important news.

A commercial traveler writes from Sandersville: I was on a car yesterday which pulled out from Macon, and before getting to this place, or at Tennille, I suggested to a gentleman to find out how the car stood as to Bacon and Gordon for governor. It contained eighteen voters, and the vote stood five for Bacon and thirteen for the gallant Gordon. This county was largely for Bacon until Gordon. This county was largely for Bacon until Gordon.

The announcement of General Gordon's candidacy has called out the following from a well-known citizen of Douglas county:

A very observant gentleman, one having an extensive acquaintance in the wiregrass section, who was in attendance on Worth superior court week before last, remarked on his return his surprise at finding so much enthusiasm for Gordon among the wool-hats of that county. This, of course was prior to any public announcement of General Gordon's candidacy, but when the strong probability of such an event had almost become a certainty. So far as your correspondent can learn, without, however, any very close inquiry, the same sentiment appears to prevail in several of the adjoining countries. It can be little doubted that the publication of his brief, direct and straightforward announcement of his caudidacy will greatly increase and intensify the good feeling southwest Georgia entertains for him, which his promised presence among us on the hustings will beyond doubt kindle into a blaze of enthusiasm. While a few, a very few, it is believed, effect to regret that General Gordon should have delayed his announcement until after certain other candidates had long occupied and canvassed the field, and have even succeeded in securing to their support a considerable portion of the county press, others regard his recent announcement such that the unseemly haste- and previousness, so to speak, of one or two of his probable competitors. But "first cr me, first served," is not a rule that will be allowed to have any application to such an office as that of the chief executive officergia this time at least.

The indications now are, in this section that the people will claim for themselves as great, if not a great sten, in an appropriate and enthusiastic speech, moved the adoption of the following resolutions, which were, amid vociferous cheers, unanimously adopted:

By the democratic party, of the county of Burke, in mass meeting assembled, May 11, 1886:

The people of Georgia will be called upon at an early day to fill the office of chief magistrate of the state, scon to become vacant by the expiration of the official term of our present able and efficient governor. Henry D. McDaniel. We view with pride and satisfaction the record of his administration, so replete with evidences of integrity, industry, prudence and economy, and characterized as it has been, by the three great cardinal virtues embodied in our constitutional motio, "wisdom, justice, and moderation."

May it ever be the lot of Georgia that this important office shall be administered by her wisest and purest patriots, in whose honest hearts self-aggrandizement and political preferment are forgotten in the general welfare of the state. While it is true that the governor is elected by the people in the aggregate, and is, or ought to be, the servant of the whole people, yet it is unquestionably the better policy in every republican form of government that general offices of public trust be administered in turn by representative men of the different sections. It develops a more general interest by the people in the affairs of state and tends to preserve the unity of the commonwealth and party.

This section of the state has not for many years been honored by the election of one of our citizens to the important office of governor; and while we have ever acquiesced in the united action of the state democracy and pledge unswerving fidelity for the future, we humbly bespeak a respectful consideration for our claim. We have naught to urge against the personal qualifications or merits of any distinguished candidates who aspire to that high office, but we present to the people of Georgia and to the democracy in the principles of democracy find a powerful exponent. But no paper could herald the name of a citizen more fit and competent for the position than that of Hon. N. L. Hutchins. He is now discnarging the duties of an office with credit and distinction, and without a desire for any other. Yet we feel that his ability desire for any other. Yet we feel that his ability as a lawyer, his purity as a private citizen, his unimpeachable record as a democrat and his bravery and history as a soldier entitle him as much as any other individual to the claims of this worthy station. His record in every station is clean of corruption, and as clear as the beams of a noon-day sun. The state's interests in his hands would be guarded with scrupulous strictness. General Gordon's Candidacy. EDITORS CONSTITUTION: The announcement b General Gordon that he is a candidate for governor is hailed with delight all along the line.

General Gordon has the love of Georgians, and has so often in war and peace shown his devotion to his state, that its people cannot honor him too often. Major Bacon has been much spoken of in this county, but without any dispargement to him it may be said that since it is made known that Geneaal Gordon is now certainly a candidate, that it is thought by man that the general will carry the vote of Oglethorp county when the test is made. Our people here ar partial to primary elections to nominate candidates whenever there are opposing candidates, and this is no doubt the fairest way to measure the strength of rival candidates.

Many people who have been quiet are now in this county very pronounced for Gordon.

General J. B. Gordon's probable candidacy for the governorship of Georgia. The question being asked, what do your people think of Gordon as a candidate for governor? In almost every instance the response came, as if from their very hearts—"if he wants to be, he can, by almost a unanimous consent of the entire people." The name of Gordon causes their eyes to flash with enthusiasm. Among all the truly grand men of noble old Georgia, there are nope who occupy a tenderer spot in the hearts of her people, than her chivalrous Gordon.

The case of the State vs. William Malone, charged with assault with intent to murder, is now on trial in the superior court.

The case was taken up yesterday morning, and as the case is rather a sensational one, the court room was wellfilled during the entire day.

It will be remembered that about four months ago J. M. England had his throat cut by Willie Malone, near Mercer's restaurant, at the railroad crossing.

ago J. M. England had his throat cut by Willie Malone, near Mercer's restaurant, at the railroad crossing.

The wound was a dangerous one, and England's life was despaired of for many weeks. Malone was arrested immediately and after being confined several days gave bond.

The grand jury investigated the case, and a true bill was found against Malone.

Pierce Yarbrogh, one of the witnesses for the state, testified that himself, England and John T. Wilson had been to the opera house and were going to Mercer's restaurant after some oysters when they saw ama and two women come out of the restaurant and start across the railroad track, Yabrogh was in advance of England and Wilson, and was in the act of stepping down into Muller's saloon when he heard England call him. In a few seconds he saw that England and Malone were having a row, but before he had time to go to his assistance England came up and said his throat was cut. He recognized the man' with the women as Malone when he passed them.

J. T. Wilson corroborated Yarbrough's statement, and said that just as England got opposite Malone and the woman, he called to Yarbrough: "Unid you mean that for me?" asked Malone, turning and facing England, who was endeavoring to pass.

"I did not," was England's reply.

Opinions differ as to the law on the subject; but from a conversation which a Constitu-tion reporter had yesterday with Judge Henry B. Tompkins, it appears that the liquor men do not hope for relief through the apparent conflict between the city charter and the local option law. It will be remem bered that Judge Tompkins was an enthu siastic anti-prohibitionist and was of counsel in the contests that were made over the elec-

VIEWS OF JUDGE TOMPKINS.

In reply to a question, Judge Tompkins In reply to a question, Judge Tompkins said:

"I scarcelythink the clause in the charter of the city of Atlanta, conferring on the mayor and general council the power 'to regulate the retail of ardent spirits within the corporate limits,' etc., will be made available to prevent the local option legislation from going into effect on the first of July, when the present licenses are out. That power in their ent licenses are out. That power in their charter contemplates that it is lawful to grant licenses to sell liquor in Atlanta. If it is not lawful, then the city cannot issue the license to sell; and it is hardly probable that the city authorities will decline to regard a law that is not yet declared unconstitutional by the courts. Taking the local option law as constitutional, it repeals the city's right to grant liquor licenses, for neither the whole nor any part of a municipal charter is a contract that the legislature cannot repeal at will, where the repeal at will will be at the repeal at will will be at the repeal at at t to retail liquors in the corporate limits of Atlanta, then when the person to whom this license was granted should be indicted under the local option law, he could defend himself on the ground that his license was good because the local option law was void. This would bring up the question which the courts have not yet passed upon. So far the courts have held that the cases brought by the liquor dealers were premature, as the law had not been put in force, and no one had been arrested for its violation."

"What do you think the courts would do for its violation."
"What do you think the courts would do with a bona fine case made after the law was with all judicial questions, it was agreed by the counsel for the liquor dealers that it was proper to test the matters before the courts, as was done. I accept as correct the rulings of the courts in the cases made, but that does not change my opinion as to the entire unconsti-tutionality of the local option law, and I be-lieve with a real case the courts would be bound so to hold."

How it can be tested.

"How can the matter best be tested?"

"If the city authorities shall decline to issue license, any liquor dealer could keep on sell-ing, make formal application for license, and if he was tried, convicted and imprisoned by the state court, he could have a writ of ha-beas corpus to a United States judge or court, on the ground that he was illegally restrained of his liberty under a state law which was ob-noxious to the United States constitution. With such a case made I have all along con-With such a case made I have all along contended the local option legislation would be held void. And I think the judgment would go to the extent of setting aside the whole law, and not only that part affecting 'domestic wines.' The pilot case published in The Constitution of today bears upon this point. In that case the supreme court of Georgia hold that a defective section of the code could be made effective by striking out the could be made effective by striking out the illegal parts. But the United States supreme court reverses this ruling, and decides that the whole section is void, because the bad and the good are not separable. I think, therefore, that the city authorities could legally go on and issue licenses to retail liquors in At-lanta, just as the county could legally go on and issue licenses to wholesale dealers: because the local option legislation, if valid, did not repeal the 27th section of the charter of the city, but because the local option act is

been called to a communication published a few days since in the Macon Telegraph and Messenger, days since in the Macon Telegraph and Messenger, in relation to Dr. H. H. Cary, which strongly intimates that Dr. C. was guilty of malfeasance in office when ordinary of Troup county. In 1873 or 74, whilst I was judge of the county court and Dr. Cary's successor in the management of county affairs, the "finance committee" appointed by the grand jury, to investigate the records of all county officers, reported against Dr. Cary the payment of fees to himself not allowed by law, and instructed me to collect the same. Dr. Cary took issue with fees to himself not allowed by law, and instructed me to collect the same. Dr. Cary took issue with me as to the legality of the charges, and proposed to leave the question to three disinterested parties—which we did. The board of arbitration found against Dr. Cary as sum much less than the finance committee reported. Dr. Cary exhibited to me letters from other ordinaries in the state, who stated they made the charges he which did, and also the written advice of one of the oldest and best lawyers of LaGrange, that he had the legal right to make the charges—which advice he obtained before any of the charges were made.

The question involved was not one of honesty, as the article refered to seems to intimate, but purrely one of construction of law. I feel that it is due Dr. Cary that these facts be made public, and therefore beg that you publish the same.

THE CANQUET LAST NIGHT. THE CANQUET LAST NIGHT.

Last night at Concordia hall a most delightful banquet was given the visiting Red Men.

The rooms were filled with a happy throng, and at nine o'clock the doors to the banquet hall were thrown open, and the Red Men with their squaws, marchedin.

at nine o'clock the doors to the banquet hall were thrown open, and the Red Men with their squaws, marchedin.

When all were seated, Mr. George Johnson, who is an enthusiastic Red Man, introduced Mayor George Hillyer, who welcomed the Red Men to the city in a beautiful speech of fifteen minutes. The mayor said that the pale faces welcomed the Red Men because the order was a noble one, and because its or fichly deserves the encouragement it has received from among Atlanta's best citizens. As the representative of the pale face, he bade them thrice welcome. He dwelt touchingly upon the far off past, when the red men were driven from this, their hunting grounds, by their pale taced brothers. The mayor was frequently interrupted with applause, and the Red Men were delighted with his address.

Ex. Mayor Goodwin was next introduced, and in behalf of the Red Men expressed his appreciation of the kindly welcome extended by the chief of the pale faces. He said he only wished the chief one mishap, and that was that the warriors might take his scalp and make him a Red Man. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the order, and stated that its membership was imcreasing every day. He said thatit was a fraternal institution, and that it had contributed largely in bringing about a better state of feeling among the sections.

Mr. Hoke Smith followed ex Mayor Goodwin in ections.

Mr. Hoke Smith followed ex-Mayor Goodwin in Mr. Hoke Smith followed ex-Mayor Goodwin in a most beautiful address. He has been a member of the order for more than twelve years, and he expressed the belief that the real purposes and principle of the noble order were not understood by the masses. He said: "The president of the United States is a Red Man. [Applause.] Some of the best people in the world belong to the order, and why shouldn't they? There are few that are better." Mr. Smith's address was a masterly effort and the Red Men sounded the war whoop several times as he touchingly alluded to the many benefits derived from the order by widows of deceased members. James Humphries, great sachem, Rev. Mr. Lee and others were called for and responded briefly.

After the banquet dancing was engaged in till a iate hour.

Every one present seemed to have a most enjoyable time.

NEW YORK, May 12—C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotion futures today, say: A great deal of liquidation on the old crop again took place at the opening, carrying prizes off some four points, but the unloading appeared to relieve the market of the weak long element, and areaction followed that closed the tone steady at a fraction under last evening. There was also some manipulation by large operators, apparently in favor of the long side, tending to reduce offerings. The new crop was sold with some moderation, and found some covering, with some pretty good buying orders for December at 9e coming in. NEW YORK, May 12-C. L. Green & Co., in their

The Cotton Market at Manchester MANCHESTER, May 12.—The Guardian's commercial article says: The market appears to be in a slack state and there is a practical suspension of business. Sales in large quantities are rare. Sellers are wavering, though the increase offered is not sufficient to meet their views. Their unwillingness to yield is due mostly to the favorer. willingness to yield is due mostly to the firmness in the cotton market and the unprofitableness of spinning. Buyers' wants are not urgent. The decline of exchange hinders eastern trade. The present demand is supplied. Buying for other markets is only from hand to mouth. Export yarns are dull. Sellers are yielding, Home trade is small.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Festures of the Speculative Movement in

Special to The Constitution. CHICAGO, May 12—There was no strength today in wheat, though a fairly active day's trade was indulged in. The only comparative firm early in the morning, June advancing to 77%c from opening at 77%c. By noon June was selling at 76%c, and later at 76%c, with no very sharp call for it even at this figure. Foreign markets were in a state of inactivity, with only a rortion of the usual volume at other points. The sudden drop to 73%c just prior to the close was caused by reports of posted wheat in New York. In the afternoon CONSTITUTION OFFICE, he market closed a shade firmer.

Less than the usual share of attention was given corh, as is shown by the narrow fluctuations. In a goneral way the market was about firm.

A range of 7%c covered the fluctuations in pork.

CEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY. TO THE SU of perior court of said county: The petition of George B. Douglas, Charles H. Wells and R. H. Richards shows that they have entered into an association and desire to become incorporated in accordance with the laws of this state, under the name of "The Dixe Company." Said corporation shall have its principal office and place of business in the city of Atlanta, in said county, and the object of said association shall be to carry on a general printing and publishing business, with the power to purchase and hold property, real and personal, to sue and be sued, and to exercise all powers usually conferred uponsimilar corporations as may be consistent with the laws of Georgia. Petitioners further showthat the capital stock of said association is ten thousand dollars, one half of which has been actually paid in. Your petitioners pray the passing of an order by said honorable court, granting this their application, and that they and their successors be incorporated under the name and for the purposes aforesaid for the period of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal; of making such by-laws for their government as they see fit, not in conflict with the constitution and laws of the state of Georgia, or of the United States, and such other powers and privileges as are incident to corporations under the laws of said state.

West End Lots.

I WILL SELL UPON THE PREMISES ON TUES day, May 18th, at 4 p. m., at the end of street car line, the handsomest and best laying block of ground in West End, divided into eleven lots as per plat. Street car, macadam brick sidewalk all down and paid for. Lots all front north and east, and every one has on it large, fine forest shade trees. They lie diagonally opposite the palatial mansion of Colonel E. P. Howell and broadside of Uncle Remus's large lot and cottage home, with unsurpassed surroundings and every element and convenience that would make a lot destrable for a home. West End has superior schools, fine church, good society, unsurpassed water, pure air and no objectionable class of population. Parties wanting to buy lots and build homes in this very desirable locality are invited to examine the lots. Tract enclosed and each lot staked and numbered, and need but to be seen to be admired Title indisputable. Terms one-third cash, balance one and two years, with 8 per cent interest.

AUCTION SALE.

17 ROOM MANSION AT AUCTION BY J. C.
18 Hendrix & Co. and W. A. Osbort & Son Thursday, May 20, 1888, at 19 o'clock a.m.

That splendid new residence of Captain E. F. May, corner Boulevard and Morris street, containing 17 elegantly finished rooms, with two bath rooms, storeroom, china closet, coal room, lsundry room with stationary tube, closets in all the chambers, electric call bells in all the rooms, speaking tubes connecting upstairs dining room and kitchen. Gas and water pipes throughout the building, a well built two story barn, all on flice corner lot with grass lawn, brick sidewalk and lawn in front: in fact, everything that is necessary to constitute an attractive home.

The Boulevard and Jackson street are becoming fashionable thoroughfares, and now with paved walks into the city, with gas and water assured, and street car only one block away, where else can you find such a home? Water as good as it is in the mcuntains, fresh and pure sir, free from all the smoke and dust of the center of the city, this location is certainly inviting. No use of going away from home in the summer, from actual experience of those that lived on that hill; at no time, day or night, do they suffer from heat. The property is not offered because Captain May is dissatissed with his home, but he has large grounds near his new factory that he desires to improve.

Terms—One third cash, balance one and two years, with 8 per cent interest.

Complete and fully equiped cotton factory, together with nearly a mile of the finest water power on the Chattahoochee river, just above the city of Columbus. the Chattahoochee river, just above the city of Columbus.

CTATE OF GEORGIA, MUSCOGEE COUNTY—By Notice of the power vested in us under the terms and conditions of a certain deed of trust executed to the undersigned J. Rhodes Browne and A. Illges, trustees, by the Columbus manufacturing company, of Muscogee county, state of Georgia, dated March 1, 1884, whereby the said corporation conveyed to us all the property, real and personal, hereinafter described, in trust, to secure the payment of its certain issue of bonds and the interest coupons thereof as in said trust deed spectfied and enumerated (all of which appears duly of record in Mortgage Deed Book "A.", folios 367 to 373, March 5, 1884, in the clerk's office of superior court Muscogee county, Georgia and in Record Deeds, volume O O, pages 81 to 83 inclusive, March 22, 1884, office of the probate court in the county of Lee, state of Alabama, and in conformity with the directions and terms prescribed in the resolutions passed by the holders of said bonds, on April 24, 1886, under the authority conterred by said deed of trust.

We will sell in the city Columbus, Muscogee county, Georgia, on the 3d day of August, 1886, between the legal hours of sale, in front of the auction house of F. M. Knowles & Co., on the northwest corner of Broad street and Tenth (formerly Crawford street,) (being the usual place for sheriff sales in said city of Columbus at public outcry, to the highest bidder, for eash, the following described property of the Columbus manufacturing company, to-wit: All those lots and parcels of land situated, lying and being, as follows: Fractional section number twenty-six (26) and the north half of fractional section number eighter-ity (83) both in fractional substem humber eighter (81), range number thirty (30) in formerly Russell now Lee county, state of Alabama. Also the following lots of lands lying and being in the eighth district of Muscogee county, state of Georgia, known as lots number eighty-sit (86) and eighty-seven (87) and the west half o STATE OF GEORGIA, MUSCOGRE COUNTY—By number eighty-six (86) and eighty-seven (87) and the west half of lot number seventy-four (74) and fractions numbered ninety-one (91) and ninety-two (92), and island number three (3) in Chattahoochee river, and a small enclosure situated east of the residence formerly occupied by J. R. Clapp, used as a residence and grazing lot, containing seven (7) acres more or less. All of said lands last described ying and being in the county of Muscogee and tate of Georgia, and together with said lands in Lee county, Alabama. containing eight hundred and thirty (830) acres more or less.

Also, all of the said Columbus manufacturing company's buildings on said land in Muscogee sounty, Ga., operated as a cotton factory, and with all of the improvements in any manner appendant and appurtenant thereto, inclusive of the cards, spindles, looms, machinery and fixtures of every kind whatever contained in said buildings also all and singular the other improvements on all of the lands aforementioned and described; also the entire water power owned and controlled by said Columbus manufacturing company on and in said Chattahoochee river, together with all and singular the rights and franchises by the said Columbus manufacturing company held and possessed therein under the laws of Georgia.

The plant of said cotton factory consists at present of 4.544 spindles, 149 iooms and other suitable machinery, all in good condition and producing good work. Present capacity 7,500 yards a day of heavy sheetings and shirtings, three yards to the pound.

The operatives' houses and improvements gen-good work. Present capacity 7,500 yards a day of heavy sheetings and shirtings, three yards to the pound.

The operatives' houses and improvements generally in excellent condition, labor abundant, lands elevated and location of property unsurpassed for health, convenience and economical production—free from the burden of municipal taxes paid by all the other Columbus mills, yet within three miles of the city of Columbus and three quarters of a mile of Columbus and Rome railroad. The water power is the finest in the south, controlling and embracing the whole bed of the Chattahoochee river for the distance of about one mile along the lands of the company, said lands extending along its banks upon the Georgia and Alabama sides of the river. Only a small portion of the water power is required and utilized in running the present mill and the natural falls in the river render but a simple inexpensive dam of logs and plank necessary. This magnificent water power is easily controlled and has a fall of forty-two and a half (42½) feet within three-quarters (%) of a mile. With a comparatively small expenditure upon a new dam, 125,000 (one hundred and twenty-five thousand) spindles with looms in proportion can be driven by this water power. Capital for the erection of additional mills and utilization of the immense power now wasted, is all that is needed to make this property the site of a prosperous and populous manufacturing village. The personal inspection of capitalists is invited. Full and satisfactory details will be furnished on application,

DEGIVE'S TONIGHT - ATLANTA MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

W. C. T. U. MEET AT 3:30 P. M., AT Y. M. C. A. HALL, TO ELECT OFFICERS.

THROUGH THE CITY.

Pencil Paragraphs Caught on the Fly by The Constitution Reporters.

Off for Iceville.—The Nine O'Clock Ger-man club picnic at Iceville today. Several friends of the club will attend.

DANGEROUSLY SICK.—Mrs. Reese, house-keeper for the Kimball house, is quite sick, and there is little hope of her recovery. STILL ON TRIAL.—The case of Fred Krogg vs. the West Point road for personal damages is still on trial in the city court. The case will be concluded tomorrow.

CALL FOR YOUR TICKETS.-Members of the Atlanta Musical association should call at the office of the secretary, Mr. Samuel Bradley, teday, and get their tickets for the concert to-PENITENTIARY BIRDS.—Jim Laushe was yesterday sentenced to a term of three years in the penitentiary for burglary. Charles McKeever, for telony, was sentenced for the same time.

DECLINED TO ACT.—Judge Trippe yesterday declined to act as auditor in the case of the United States vs. O. P. Fitzsimmons, ex-United States marshal. Nothing can be done until Judge McCay returns,

ALL READY.—Mr. H. T. McDaniel, surveyor public lands, Montans, executed his bond yesterday before Colonel Buck, clerk of the United States court. He and his party will leave Tuesday or Wednesday for Helena, Montana.

DEATH OF MRS. GIRARDY.—Major J. P. Girardy yesterday received a telegram announcing the sudden death of his wife at Augusta. When the gentleman was at his home a short time ago his wife was in excellent health. He left on the afternoon train for

NOTABLES COMMISSIONED .- By direction of GOVERNOR McDaniel, commissions were issued yesterday to the following notaries public A. A. Collier, 1121st district; H. H. Rouse, 567th district; S. D. Parker, 1124th district; C. Champion, 1044th district; all of Worth GONE TO LOUISVILLE. -Mr. Paul Jones left done to Louisville.—Mr. Paul Jones left last night for Louisville, Ky., to rent buildings and perfect other arrangements for the immediate removal of his wholesale liquor house to the blue grass metropolis. Mr. Jones will transfer his business to Louisville within the next month. He was accompanied by his nephew, Mr. Lawrence Jones.

GORED BY A Cow.-Jennie Lawshe, a colored girl, whose home is near the ice mill, at the foot of Alabama street, was severely in-jured late yesterday afternoon by an injuriated cow. The girl was attempting to milk the cow when the animal suddenly made a lunge knocking the girl down. The cow's horn en-tered the girl's shoulder and tore the flesh away ,making an ugly wound.

TONIGHT AT DEGIVE'S .- The concert to be Tonicht at Degive's.—The concert to be given at Degive's opera house tonight by the Atlanta Musical association, will probably be attended by the largest audience that has gathered at that theater this season, if the box-office chart at Wilson & Bruckner's is any criterion. The magnificent "Stabat Mater" and the other works to be rendered make up an unusually attractive programme. an unusually attractive programme.

Two FIRES IN ONE PLACE. -An alarm of fire was turned in yesterday morning from box 62, located on the extreme western end of Marietta street. The alarm was caused by an incipient blaze on the roofs of two small bulidings on Marietta street near Pine. It appears that an engine on the Western and Atlantic track dropped sparks on the two roofs at the same time, and both sparks caused a fire which was easily extinguished by the quick work of the department.

THEEW A STONE THROUGH IT.—Yesterday afternoon while a crowd of boys were playing on Ivy street, near the school house, one of the party attempted to kill a bird, which was perched on the limb of a tree in the Ivy street perched on the limb of a tree in the Ivy street school house yard, with a stone. The first stone the boy threw missed the bird, but went crashing threw a blind and window in the front of the building. The noise made by breaking the blind and splintering the glass resembled an approaching cyclone, and when persons bent on an investigation made an appearance, the boy had disappeared from sight. The stone made a hole through the window large enough to allow a small boy to pass through.

Almost a Serious Fire.—Late yesterday afternoon a large pile of baled hay in the rear of Taylor & Co.'s livery stable, on Alabama street, caught on fire in some way, as yet unknown. The fire progressed without being discovered until the smoke attracted the attention of some one about the barn. When the fire was discovered it was burning brightly, and the entire block was in danger. The fire department was called out and aided by a liberal supply of water from the hose lines in The Constitution building, succeeded in extinguishing the fire before any considerable amount of damage had been done. Several bales of hay were destroyed and the rear end of the two story brick building occupied by Taylor, Wylie & Bliley, undertakers, was badly scorched.

DIED OF HEART DISEASE,—Mrs. Fanny Eubanks, an old lady living on Moore street, died yesterday morning very suddenly of heart disease. Mrs. Eubanks was over 70 years of age, and up to day before yesterday has enjoyed a siege of fine health for more than ten years. The old lady had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Handy, and was quite well known in the southern and eastern portions of the city. On Tuesday she was sitting on the front porch, and late that evening pulled some flowers in the front yard. Yesterday morning she arose, and while at the breakfast table complained of intense pains in her side and breast in the region of the heart. Soon after breakfast she laid down on a sofa, and when a member of the family went to call her at dinner she was dead. Mrs. Eubanks has been living in Atlanta for more than forty years.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Two Important Meetings--The List of Members Continues to Grow.

bers Continues to Grow.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Fulton county confederate veterans? association will be held at 8 o'clock tonight, in the office of Comptroller General Wright. The committee consists of the president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, and five unofficial members of the association.

A CONSTITUTION reporter met Colonel B. J. Davis, the secretary, yesterday, and inquired of him the object of the meeting.

"The organization of the association," he said, "has never been fully completed. The executive committee will meet tomorrow night to discuss a constitution and by-laws. Whatever may be agreed upon will be reported to a meeting of the association to be held next week."

"Hes the time for that meeting been fixed?"

"Has the time for that meeting been fixed?"
"Yes; it will take place Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, in the basement of the courthouse."

AT ROLL CALL,

AND THE STORIES THE PATROLMEN TOLDEACH OTHER.

i Industrious Mechanic Assaulted While Going Quietly to his Home-His Assailant Unknown --A Stolen Mule and the Chase-Burglar-tring a Residence-Other Items.

James Field, a young man whose home is at 196 Wheat street, was severely stabled in the back, late last night, by an unknown person. Field works for the plow factory on Marietta street, and after finishing his day's work remained at the factory to complete a piece of work. Field ended his task about ten o'clock, and started home. On the way he met two or three friends, with whom he stopped to talk a few minutes. These short conversations delayed him until he lost the last car; consequently he was compelled to walk out Wheat street. The night was a pleasant one, with an abundance of moonone, with an abundance of moonlight, and without any thought of an assault the belated man walked hurriedly down the street. When he stepped from the sidewalk upon Butler street an unknown man suddenly sprang from the shadow of a large tree and grabbing Field in the coat collar with one hand drove a knife into his back with the other. The assault was sudden and Field was so completely off his guard that his assailant was able to make good his escape before the assaulted gentleman could even obtain a glimpse of him after the encounter. Field went to a drug store near at hand and had his wound dressed. The wound is a deep ugly stab, but not a dangerous one.

A Lost Mule.

A Lost Mule. J. J. Martent, a planter who lives three miles from Atlanta, visited police headquarters yesterday morning and left the description of a fine mule which was stolen from his tion of a fine mule which was stolen from his place Tuesday night. The mule is a large black animal, with long mane and tail, On Tuesday night Mr. Martent fed his stock and then fastened the barn door. Some time during the night a thief broke the fastening on the door and saddling the mule rode him off. Mr. Martent succeeded in tracing the mule to the city and ascertained that the thief had made an attempt to sell him at a wagon yard on Peters street, but failed to accomplish the sale because the low price he asked caused the stock man to suspest that the mule had been

Mr. R. T. Dow, the well-known commercial tourist, whose home is at No. 302 Peachtres. has been the owner of a large, fine, handsome has been the owner of a large, fine, handsome pointer dog. The dog has been a great favorite with Mr. Dow's family, and was extensively known on Peachtree street. Early yesterday morning he was seen in the yard, but at noon, when Mr. Dow returned to his home, the dog failed to meet him at the gate. This was something unusual, and at once attracted Mr. Dow's attention. He began calling the dog by name, but receiving no response, searched the premises for him. The dog failed to show up, and now his description is at police headquarters, and a liberal reward is offered for his recovery.

Burglarizing a Bar. Burglars entered Blount's saloon on Decatur treet, night before last, by boring the lock off the front door, and carried away several bot-tles of liquor, three boxes of cigars, some tobacco, a fine pistol and about twenty dollars tobacco, a fine pistol and about twenty dollars in money. The money was locked in the cash drawer, and the burglars were compelled to prize this open in order to get at the money. In the same drawer was a fifty dollar bill which the burglars did not molest, as it was under a paper and not exposed to view. After securing all they wanted, the burglars placed a chair against the door and took their departure quietly. The burglary was not detected until yesterday morning.

Stealing Jewelry. Night before last a burglar entered J. E. Harding's apartments at 91 Marietta street, by crawling through the opening over the door and carried away two pairs of silver bangled bracelets, two pairs of gold bracelets, one solid gold ball earring and one pair of fine shoes. The burglar accomplished his work quietly and then unlocking the door walked out. The burglar was an average and pilleged. out. The burglar was an expert and pillaged the room without making noise enough to awake any one.

Entertaining Brevities.

The Black Maria made five calls after ten o'clock last night. Jim Wrinkle was taken back to Whitfield county yesterday, where he is wanted for burglary.

Patrolmen Thompson and Terry, who were added to the regular list at the last meeting of the board, set up a box of cigars each to the force last night.

Will Payne, tht boy thief, is serving a ten days' sentence on the rock pile for his drunk night before last. In the meantime Alabama officials are corresponding with Chief Conolly about him.

Burglars entered Coleman's place on Walton street last night and stole several sacks of flour. Jim Hamilton, a small negro boy, was found with part of the flour in his possession and was locked up.

Jake Mould, the rock picker, was run in last night because he was drunk on the streets. Lucy Jackson raised quite a racket on Peters street last night and was arrested by Patrolmen Christophine and McWilliams.

Sam Vaughan was arrested yesterday by Officers Carlisle and Phillips, and taken before Justice Horton for preliminary trial, charged with assaulting George Oakes at the Knights of Labor picnic last week, and carrying concealed weapons.

THE COMING OF BISHOP BECKER. He Will Reach Atlanta Touight at Ten

O'Clock. Much interest is felt among the Catholic citizens of Atlanta over the coming of Bishop Becker, who has been transferred to the see of Savannah. At a meeting of representative Catholic gentlemen, held at the parochial residence last night, Mr. P. J. Moran was called to the chair and Mr. J. F. O'Neill was elected secretary.

A free interchange of opinion was then entered into as to the most appropriate action.

elected secretary.

A free interchange of opinion was then entered into as to the most appropriate action. The difficulty in the way of a formal reception was the uncertainty of the hour of the bishop's arrival, and the fact that he had not yet been formally installed into his new see. It was resolved, however, that a committee of ten be appointed to meet Bishop Becker at the train and escort him to the parochial residence; that all the Catholics of the city be urged to be there and welcome the new bishop by personal presentation; and that further honors be given if circumstances should so shape themselves.

The chairman then appointed as such committee, Dr. R. D. Spalding, chairman; Messrs, John J. Falvey, John H. Mecaslin, Patrick McQuaid, M. Mahoney, Henry M. Soott, Henry Fleck, James F. O'Neill, John J. Lynch and J. Carroll Payne.

After the adjournment of the meeting, Mr. P. J. Moran received a telegram from Bishop Becker, which stated that he would reach Atlanta on the nine forty-six p. m. train, and that he would be accompanied by Bishop Moore, of Florida, Rev. Father Kiely and Rev. Father Rebman.

The committee appointed will, therefore, meet in the parochial residence at nine o'clock tonight, sharp, so as to be in readiness to receive the distingsished party at the depot. The people generally are invited to assemble at the residence, where the bishop and his party will hold a half hour's reception, thus affording all an opportunity to see him.

Rev. Fathers McCarthy and McMahon were in attendance on the meeting, and were in full accord with its purpose.

FOOD FOR CARP.

Commissioner J. T. Henderson Suggests a Plan to Provide Subsistence for the Carp. In the agricultural department, yesterday afternoon, a Constitution reporter found Commissioner J. T. Henderson at his desk

Commissioner J. T. Henderson at his desk scanning the pages of a work on fish culture.

"Are you picking out points for the benefit of your pets, the waterwork's carp?" the reporter inquired.

"Not exactly, but I confess that I was thinking of the mortality that has recently taken place among the carp family in the reservoir."

"What is your opinion as to the cause of the mortality?"

mortality? "I can imagine no reason other than one growing out of the late freshets. The carp, it is true, is vegetarian by nature. Go about the margins of the lakes which the carp frequents is true, is vegetarian by nature. Go about the margins of the lakes which the carp frequents and you will have occular demonstration of the fact, particularly during that portion of the day when the fish is feeding. You can see the sprigs of grass and the leaves of the water-lily trembling to such an extent that you will think a pig is causing the disturbance. Now, they tell me that the freshets have deposited such quantities of mud along the margins of the reservoir that every vestige of vegetation has disappeared."

"Then you think the carp famished?"

"If my premises are correct, I certainly do. If you will remember, it has been some weeks—months, indeed—since the freshets and during the time that has elapsed the carp could obtain no subsistence, save what animalcule may have existed in the water. This, I conjecture, was insufficient subsistence. The carp is a grass feeder, as will be shown by post mortem examinations."

"What plan would you saggest to provide for the necessities of the fish?"
"Why, artificially that is by food thrown into the reservoir."
"What kind of food would you suggest?"
"Garbage from the kitchen is good. While

THE CARP IS A VEGETARIAN, it does not stickle at an occasional morsel of steak or chopped ham. But adequate food could be supplied with the waste vegetables of the city or, if need be, with damaged crackers. Now I think of it, it would be an excellent plan to lease the fishing privileges at the reservoir to parties that would supply the needed subsistence. It has become quite common, now-a-days, to form fishing clubs, for the purpose of renting ponds and lakes. If I am not mistaken, Mayor Hillyer is a member of such a club." THE CARP IS A VEGETARIAN, am not mistaken, Mayor Hillyer is a member of such a club."

"But would not a scheme of that kind be objectionable at the reservoir?"
"Why should it be? Under proper restrictions, it occurs to me that it would be rather an advantage than otherwise. Restrict the field used to vegetables. Lat them be finely mixed up, and let them be fed at a given place and as nearly in the quantity consumed as possible. If possible, let the feeding be done by some one in charge of the water supply. Let the days for fishing be fixed, and allow none but men of the strictest propriety indulge in the sport. It seems to me that the presence of a reasonable quantity of fish would have the effect of purifying the water. Certainly any number of live fish would be better than the smallest quantity of contaminating dead fish. The small amount of vegetable matter fed under the rigid rules I have indicated would not contaminate the smallest quantity. ted would not contaminate the smallest quantity of water. But, if the authorities will cause a reproduction of the grasses and other cause a reproduction of the grasses and other aquatic plants, even in a greater abundance than they formerly existed, they will act as so many purifiers of the water, besides contributing to the subsistance of the fish.

"You do not think that poison, or dynamite, has been used for the destruction of the carp?"

"No, I do not."

Commissioner Henderson was much in early-

Commissioner Henderson was much in earnest in making his suggestions.

Despise not the Day of Small Things. Little things may help a man to rise—a bent pin in an easy chair for instance. Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are small things, pleasant to take, and they cure sick headaches, relieve torpid livers and do wonders. Being purely vegetable they cannot harm any one. BOYCOTTED, BUT SUCCESSFUL.

What Chambers & Co. Say in Regard to Business and the Ring. Passing Chambers and Co.'s mammoth livery stable yesterday, a Constitution reporter asked Mr. Chambers the business outlook, and the prospects of the mule trade this look, and the prospects of the mule trade this season. "Business is good," said Mr. Chambers. "We only came to Atlants, you know, about a year ago, but we have done well. The ring, because we had good livery and because we put dowe prices on mule feed and carriage hire, boycotted us, but we have downed them. We have made many good friends and patrons to whom we are grateful for confidence, and assure them that in the future they will be treated as in the past. This livery ring here even went so far past. This livery ring here even went so far as to offer to pay a drover's bill at our stable if he would remove his stock to some other stable, and in a case we had the other day, stable, and in a case we had the other day, which by the way we won, they sent in affidavits that the vehicles mortgaged to Walker if sold would not bring one-third of the mortgage. On the other hand, some of the best citizens in the city swore that the property was worth three times the mortgage, and that if sold in three wears would bring if sold in three years would bring twice the amount of the debt. The truth of twice the amount of the debt. The truth of the business is that this ring is jealous; for we have the best livery in the state, and we say to the people now that we have come here to stay and that we will hire them the finest turnouts in the city and at the lowest prices. We are in no ring and hire our teams at what we deem right. The ring might as well let us alone for we will not join it; but will run our business according to the dictates of our own minds. And it is with us like it is with a negro's pains, the more you rub them worse At this time a brigade of carriages came out to go for the "Red Men," and the reporter left, leaving Mr. Chambers enjoying his good run to the fullest arent

"No sir, he did not."

"I have ze lizens," said the defendant as he shoved a hand into his pocket.

"Well. let's see," said the judge as he took the paper. The paper was old, greasy, and with great care the judge opened it, and as he began to read it a smile played across his face.

"This is not an ice cream cake license. It is a license to sell wind mills."

Atlanta will win four straight games from Char-leston. UNFAIR UMPIRING Atlanta will win four straight games from Charleston. The Southern league managements are determined that there shall be no inshing or insubordination among the various teams, and to this end Chattanooga has suspended L. P. Dickerson. Memphis has released John Lavin, and has secured two good men—one to play in the field and the other at short stop. Everybody is anxious to see the Charleston club, as next to Savannah it is the hignest price team in the Southern league, and, besides, is the only club that took a game from Atlanta upon a technicality. Today is off day, and there will be no league games played. On Friday Atlanta will open with Charleston. The Louisville club adopted the same course

Atlanta Beaten by Savannah Again-Chattanooga Scores Another From the Charlestons-Nash-ville Sets Augusta Back, and Memphis Crows Over Macon-Other News.

The game yesterday afrernoon was clearly given to Savannah by Umpire Young. Atlanta has been very patient with Young, and has made no complaint, but allowed him to umpire the four games without raising any question as to his decisions, seeing all the while that he was very unjust and thoroughly incompetent. There has been such universal complaint at his umpiring that on yesterday the crowd that attended the ball park was not as large as usual, yet the crowd exercised a wonderful degree of patience; but when he declared Lyons out at third base when Murray had not touched him or got within six feet of him, there was an outburst of indignation. This is but one instance of his incompetency as exhibited five different times yesterday. It is not surprising that the American association required him to resign a The game yesterday afrernoon was clearly the American association required him to resign a few days ago, and it is the more surprising that President Proudfit should take up a discarded rresident Proudit should take up a discarded umpire for the Southern league. The Southern league is stronger in popular favor than the American association, and President Proudit should see to it that only the best umpires in the country are selected. Young was drummed out of Louisville and Cincinnation account of his incompetency, and Mr. Proudit certainly knew of this fact, or should have been apprised of the same should have been apprised of the same. The people are satisfied that President Proudfit should have been apprised of the same. The people are satisfied that President Proudit will remove Young at once, as it is useless to endeavor to play ball with him. At a meeting of the tockholders of the Atlanta club it was resolved hat Young should under no circumstances umpize another game on the Atlanta grounds, and the stockholders requested Mr. Ryan to telegraph President Frondit that Atlanta would forfeit her franchise rather than submit to such incompetent umpiring as that admisistered by Young. The Atlanta management and stockholders have been very indulgent with Umpire Young, but there is no question of his incompetency and thick-headedness. The game on Friday with Charleston will be umpired by a league umpire whom President Proudit will send here to take Young's place.

The Atlanta club played excellent seterday, and would have won the game, if Umpire Young had not willed otherwise, The public was treated to fine sport, and the game was very much enjoyed especially when the Atlanta team got on to Nolan and hit him so hard in the two last innings.

· Chattanooga Defeats Charleston, CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 12 .- [Special.]-The Chattanoogas administered the the third suc The Chattanoogas administered the the third successive defeat to Charleston today, winning by a score of 11 to 6. The locals put their new pitcher, Kilroy, in the box, and the visitors very promptly knocked him out in the first two innings, making four hits and as many runs. Hart was then placed in the box, and held the sluggers down to three singles. He has pitched four straight games, a feat never accomplished by any pitcher in the south, and has only been hit safely sixteen times. He also led the batting. Weyhing was badly punished by the locals, and but for the time fielding of the visitors would have fared worse.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

ACTION OF THE CHAMBER OF COM

The meeting of the chamber of commerc yesterday, held to take action regarding the Cullom interstate commerce bill, was a large and representative one. It was attended by many members of the chamber and also by many not members.

At 11:15 o'clock President R. J. Lowry as cended the rostrum and called the meeting to order. He stated that the object of the meeting was to hear the report of the committee appointed on the 11th inst, to suggest suitable action regarding the Cullom bill. Secretary Welsh read the report, which was as follows:

Weish read the report, which was as follows:

EFFORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 12th, 1886.—Whereas, At an adjourned meeting of the Atlanta chamber of commerce held this day, to which the public was invited, and which was largely attended by members and other representative citizens, the Cullom bill on interstate commerce, now pending in the United States senate, was read and discussed after careful consideration by private individuals and a special committee, previously appainted for the purpose, it was, on recommendation of said special committee, unanimously.

Resolved, That we, here assembled, do cordially approve of the said Cullom bill on interstate commerce regarding it as absolutely wise, just and necessary legislation, doing equal justice to both transportation lines and the public; and that we most earnestly request our representatives; in the United States senate and house of representatives to use every honorable means in their power to secure the adoption of said bill without further alteration or amendment.

Resolved, That the secretary of this chamber of commerce be instructed to telegraph the substance of these resolutions to our senators and to the Hon. N. J. Hammond, and forward copies of the same to each of them by mail.

COMMUNISM

Raised its red right arm last week in Chicago and made America echo from center to circumference with its bursting bombs. The villainous wretches hurled death and disaster into the ranks of the "windy" city's trusty guardians, but like the skulking cowards they are, they slunk away to their dens. But this is too great a country for such violence to last long; the law will stretch the stringy necks of the leaders and order will once more reign supreme. Happily for our immediate section, we are in no danger from such outbreaks. The workingman here will use moral suasion in demanding his rights, content to believe that justice will be accorded sooner this way than by resorting to the dangerous rule of mob law. But while we preach harmony and advise peace, we want it understood that we are DYNAMIT-ERS of the respectable sort, and we are going to THROW BOMBS right and left. In fact, this is our SLAUGHTER week, and we caution competition to stand from under,
